SIX COMMUNISTS TO TRIAL TODAY

Enforcement of a 64-year-old statute of reconstruction days providing the death penalty for attempts to incite insurrection will be sought today by Assistant Solicitor-General John H. Hudson when the cases of six alleged communists are called for trial in Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy's division of Fulton superior court.

The defendants have been at liberty under bond for more than a year. They will appear in court this morning ready to defend their rights. Oliver C. Hancock, attorney, said Tuesday night.

Indicted for the capital offense under the 1868 statute are Joe Carr, M. H. Powers, Mary Dalton, Ann Burlock, Glimmer Brady and Henry Story. Charges against the sextet were made after a series of meetings in Atlanta in 1930, at which literature alleged to have insurrectionary tendencies was distributed.

Hancock said that the defense will insist on severance, and that lengthy demurrers attacking the constitutionality of the act will be presented to the court. If the cases go to trial, it is possible that several professors may appear as "experts" on revolutionary literature, social unrest and similar matters, it was said. The state is said to be in possession of a number of papers, pamphlets and leaflets of reputed communistic flavor, including the doctrines of Karl Marx.

An appeal for interpretation of the laws against insurrection in the light of the more fundamental guarantees of constitutional liberties was made in a statement issued some time ago by more than 50 Atlantans, including

St. Luke's Choir Will Present Rossini's Stabat Mater Friday

St. Luke's vested choir, composed of 50 voices, will present Rossini's Stabat Mater, at the St. Luke's church at 8 o'clock Friday night.

Directing the choir will be Hugh Hodgson, well-known southern pianist and the organist at the St. Luke's church.

The double quartet which will participate in the program will include Miss Mina Hecker, Miss Helen Riley, Mrs. C. E. Drummond, James Glover and Arthur Stokes Jr.

St. Luke's choir, which has become famous for its choral work, has been practicing for two months on this program.

Dean G. C. White, Dean E. H. Johnson, Dean C. M. Woodward, Professor S. G. Brinkley, Professor W. A. Smart, Professor H. H. Harris, all of Emory; the Rev. R. L. Russell, presiding elder of the Atlanta district; W. W. Alexander, R. B. Elenzer, and many lawyers, physicians and other prominent persons.

This statement pointed out that "the undersigned do not endorse the revolutionary philosophy and tactics of the communist party and its affiliated organizations. Yet we believe communists should be protected in their constitutional rights of free speech and free assembly."

In a letter to the Civil Liberties Union, former Governor Thomas W. Hardwick explained that "as originally enacted, this statute applied on its face, to attempt to circulate documents and propaganda tending to incite servile insurrection among the slaves in this state."

Governor Hardwick said that the statute was modified by having stricken all reference to slaves and being made applicable to people generally. He called it a "very dangerous document... capable of being made the engine of much oppression," and said

"This oratorio, though widely known, is attempted only by well-trained choruses because of the extensive practice necessary in the choral work, especially in the final 'Amen Chorus' which is one of the most difficult of well-known choral numbers, and also because of much of the solo work which can only be rendered by highly proficient soloists."

This same cantata was given at St. Luke's church 18 years ago, and was repeated the following week in order that the hundreds turned away might be able to hear it.

"I have never heard of any attempt to enforce it since the reconstruction days."

According to an interview given by Assistant Solicitor-General Hudson shortly after indictment of the six persons, he will "demand the death penalty for every communist who comes to the state and publicly preaches the doctrine of violent opposition to the state."

RESERVATION LIST FOR BOY VIOLINIST REPORTED HEAVY

Yehudi Menuhin's recital at the Atlanta auditorium on Monday night promises to break attendance records for musical events in recent years, according to Marvin McDonald, manager of the all-star concert series.

"This will be due largely to attendance from other cities and towns in Georgia and surrounding states," said Mr. McDonald. "Yehudi will visit no other southern city and it probably will be years before he returns to Atlanta, as he gives only a limited number of recitals. As a result, reservations have been received in number from points as far away as Birmingham and Chattanooga."

The special offer of half-priced seats for children under 15 years also has resulted in swelling the reservation lists, and fully 1,000 children are expected to hear the boy violin genius. The sale of seats starts tomorrow at the Davidson-Taxon store.

LOUISA ROBERT NAMED DELEGATE TO APPLE FETE

By appointment of Governor Richard B. Russell Jr., Miss Louisa Robert, popular Atlanta girl, will represent the state of Georgia at the annual Apple Blossom Festival of the

MISS LOUISA ROBERT.

Shenandoah valley which will be held in Winchester, Va., home of former Governor Harry Flood Byrd, of that state, next month.

Miss Robert will be Georgia's princess at the court of the festival queen. She is the daughter of L. W. (Chip) and Mrs. Robert who has recently won fame in various athletic events and is scheduled to take part in the forthcoming Olympic swimming contest.

Her appointment was made at the request of the governor of Virginia.

GEORGIA PRODUCTS SHOW PLANS PUSHED

Meeting with the response and cooperation of manufacturers and producers, plans are going forward for the Georgia Products Exposition to be held at the municipal auditorium on May 4, 5, 6 and 7. The exposition will assemble the most complete showing of Georgia-made and Georgia-produced commodities ever assembled, according to Raleigh Drennon, chairman of the exhibitors' committee.

Believing that there is a growing consciousness of the value of Georgia products this display will continue an educational event of major importance. Displays of goods manufactured over the state at large, fashion shows, entertainment features, and an exhibitors' dinner the opening night of the show, will have place on the program.

The exposition is being sponsored by the Southern Industrial Development Association and enjoys the endorsement of the Woman's Club, the American Legion and civic organizations throughout the state. The advisory board of the association is composed of the following: Eugene R. Black, governor of the Federal Reserve bank, Atlanta; Charles C. Walker, president of the Charles N. Walker Roofing Company; trustee of the Civilian International and chairman of the extension committee of the Atlanta Civic Club.

Horace Russell, former president Atlanta Chamber of Commerce; H. H. Cabiness, the Atlanta Journal; Dr. M. L. Brittain, president Georgia School of Technology; Mell Wilkerson, president of the Presidents' Club, Atlanta; W. E. Page, president R. W. Page Corporation, Columbus; L. O. Moseley, president Atlanta Hotel Men's Association; Hubert E. Lee, editor Dixie Business; Ivan Allen, chairman Industrial Bureau, Atlanta Chamber of Commerce.

J. W. McWorter, editor, Winder News; former Governor Clifford Walker, Atlanta; Graut W. Hayes, advertising director, Dixie Business; Colonel Fred J. Paxton, president Davidson-Paxon; Harold C. Booker, secretary Association for the Increased Use of Cotton, Columbia, S. C.; Albert E. Thornton Jr., lawyer, Atlanta; John M. Graham, president National City bank, Rome; Mrs. Laurence T. Mitchell, state bureau of markets.

'BUSINESS' HUSBANDS SCORED BY DR. PORTER

A man who is married to his business has no business getting married, Dr. Henry Alford Porter told an audience that filled Second Baptist church Tuesday night for the ninth of his series of evangelistic sermons on the "new commandment" of love.

"Such marriages are spiritual bigamy and are punished more certainly and more severely than bigamous marriages are in the ordinary legal sense of the terms," the pastor declared. "Love is a delicate plant which must be cultivated throughout the span of its life if it is to continue to put forth the sweet flowers that it yields in courtship."

Dr. Porter decried the steadily rising divorce rate, which, he said, is a ringing challenge to the church to reach farther with its message of unselfish love.

Czechoslovakia Denies Trotsky Entry to Nation

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, March 22.—(AP)—Czechoslovakia has revoked permission recently extended to Leon Trotsky, exiled bolshevik leader, to visit this country for three months. The official explanation is the necessary traveling visas from Istanbul to Prague could not be obtained from the countries en route and that the Turkish government could not guarantee his return there. There were reports, however, that the real reason lay in a protest by the nationalist elements in this country. Meanwhile dispatches from Sofia said Trotsky had applied for permission to visit a health resort in Bulgaria.

PEACE MOVE FAILS AS RIFT DEVELOPS

Chief Chinese Delegate
Walks Out at Outset of Armistice Conference.

BY MORRIS J. HARRIS.
SHANGHAI, March 23.—(Wednesday)—(AP)—The first formal parley to arrange a definite Sino-Jap armistice in the Shanghai area fell through today when General Chiang Kuang-nai, the chief Chinese delegate, walked out just as the meeting was about to begin.

General Chiang is credited with being commander-in-chief of the ninth route army, which defended Shanghai, although General Tsai Ting-kai appeared to control the organization when it was fighting the Japanese.

General Chiang objected to Lieutenant General Kenkichi Iyeda as the chief Japanese delegate to the formal conference, alleging that General Iyeda was not his equal in rank, and insisting that General Yoshinori Shirakawa, the Japanese commander-in-chief, should assume leadership of the Japanese delegation.

Since the meeting had not yet been organized, it was not public knowledge that the chief Japanese delegate would be Iyeda, but General Chiang said he would be and insisted that his designation constituted an insult to China.

The chief Chinese delegate withdrew unexpectedly after several participants had arrived at the British consulate for the scheduled parleys at 10:30 a. m.

The group collected at the consulate included foreign neutral ministers to China and military attaches, and they fully expected to take up the final work of making definite peace by arranging a method of withdrawal of Japanese forces and solving the administration of the area around Shanghai evacuated by them.

Club Enjoys Georgia Products

Georgia products were featured Tuesday at the weekly meeting of the Kiwanis club, held in the civic room of the Ansley hotel. The "speakers' table" was loaded with Mike Benton and Sinclair Jacobs, was arranged and sponsored by the publicity committee of the club. The members of the committee are: Sinclair Jacobs, Mike Benton, Joe Camp, Mercer Lee, Gus Loyless, Harry Alexander, James deJarnette, and Carling Dinkler.

Barrett Credited With Slash In Wilbur Department Fund

Complete Abolition of Interior Office Declared
Not a Definite Possibility.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Following the recent "lobbying" charges hurled at Charles S. Barrett, of Georgia, former head of the National Farmers Union, by Secretary of Interior Wilbur in connection with an Atlanta mining claim against the government, there has arisen in Washington a spirited agitation which may have a far reaching effect on current demands to weed out duplications in the various departmental bureaus.

Denying the lobby charge with the statement that he had been working on the same claims for a period of some 14 years in the interest of farm groups he has represented, the Georgia man has started a movement for the abolition of the interior department as the first step in a governmental department connection program. Already, in fact, he is credited with having inspired action on the interior department annual appropriation bill slashing some $10,000,000 from its expenditures for the coming fiscal year as a part of the economy program now being considered by congress.

Secretary Wilbur started the controversy between himself and Mr. Barrett by writing a letter on March 10 to the senate in which he made his lobbying charges. Referring to the Georgia farm leader, the department head said:

"He called at my office on March 10, 1932, to secure information about this claim and was given a complete statement of its status. Before he left he asked for payment of $622,000 that afternoon. He called again later in the day with the two claimants, Messrs. Pratt and Ashcraft, and was referred to the assistant secretary of the interior whom he left almost immediately with the statement that he was going up to the senate. An hour later he called a representative of my office on the phone, and with considerable vituperation, announced that he was going to 'get the interior department' for not having settled this claim for $622,000. He stated that since he had left the interior department he had seen 76 senators, that he was going to have the interior department abolished, that he had stopped consideration of our appropriation bill on the floor of the senate, that he had 'more power' than many people gave him credit for, that he could 'break' the officials in the department, that 'skullduggery' existed in the department, that everybody knew we could not stand in the light of day and made similar threats to unduly influence the adjudication of this claim. He was told that he could not compel me to handle a matter of this nature because of any political or other pressure which he might bring to bear on the department."

Handed to Senate.

Secretary Wilbur's letter was handed to the senate just before adjournment on March 16. The next day the interior department appropriation bill was referred to the committee on appropriations with instructions to reduce the appropriation.

It is significant that in consideration of the interior department appropriations the senate had increased numerous items as sent over in the bill from the house until the conduct of the department was brought to serious attention and the very next day following the receipt of Secretary Wilbur's letter the senate stopped further consideration of the bill and sent it back to the committee to reconsider and reduce the appropriations. The instructions to the committee were clear, definite and concise and given by a ye and nay vote.

It is also to be noted with significance that, while the secretary has stated in his letter that his department had been handling these claims with expedition and he could not be influenced in hastening action under pressure, his letter to the senate advised that he had certified an award of some $44,000 on March 16—the very day of his letter. This did not escape the attention and understanding of the senate.

Opinion Revised.

Secretary Wilbur has been given cause to revise his opinion about the suggestions to abolish the interior department being an "irresponsible recommendation."

Evidence of the intention of abolishing the department, some of the agencies of the department have been cut off from sustaining allowances by first striking out allowances for Herbert J. Hagerman, Indian commissioner, formerly governor of New Mexico.

Speaking to this point, Senator James Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois, stated on the floor of the senate as recorded in the Congressional Record of March 16, and in part said: "I propose that the interior department now be abolished as an obsolete branch and whatever may be of usefulness amalgamated with the department of agriculture and treated as the land department. Thus we lessen the salary list, reduce the expenses and cut off this bureau now more of adornment than of usefulness. The department dwells upon the history of its past rather than upon the value of its present. Rid our government of that one department and $15,000,000 would be saved. I take the liberty of calling attention of the senators to the fact that the farmers of this country are heartily in favor of this form of reorganization if I am to judge from the splendid brochure which I see has been printed under the designation of the honorable Charles Barrett, one of those who has been president of farm organizations and very active in cooperation with them for a considerable number of years, particularly as we observe him around congress."

Department Beginner.

"It is apparent in observing senate debate," said Mr. Barrett today, "that not only reduction in appropriations to balance the budget is entertaining serious consideration but also that inquiry is to be aggressively directed toward determining definite boards and bureaus which can be completely abolished. While the interior department has been definitely and specifically spotted as the place to begin abolishing, the controversy started by Secretary Wilbur, in defense of himself and his department, has centered the mind of congress for serious determination in drastically wielding the ax on departments, boards and commissions in no gentle manner."

Strength to this movement is added through the definite knowledge brought out by Mr. Barrett, in his statement referred to by Senator Lewis, that the farmers of the country not only are for reduction of government by boards, bureaus and commissions, but will welcome the start of this program with abolition of the department of the interior.

In discussing the matter today Mr. Barrett expressed his gratitude to Senator George, of Georgia, for his efforts and aid in the endeavor of getting settlement for these farmer claimants. Other members of the Georgia delegation have also intervened in an effort to have the department make a satisfactory settlement of the claims.

CRISP IS FAVORED FOR PARTY'S HEAD

Roosevelt Friends Support Georgian for Permanent Chairmanship.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—(Special).—Southern members of congress and friends of Governor Roosevelt here were interested today in a story in the New York Times which linked Representative Charles R. Crisp, of Americus, acting chairman of the house ways and means committee, with the permanent chairmanship of the Chicago convention.

The Times story said: Representative Charles R. Crisp of Georgia, acting chairman of the ways and means committee, was urged tonight by some friends of Governor Roosevelt for the permanent chairmanship of the democratic national convention on the ground that his prominence in the party and ability as a parliamentarian entitled him to that honor.

In the recent past the democrats have gone to the senate for presiding officers of their national convention. Senator Robinson presided at the 1928 convention and Senator Walsh, of Montana, acted in that capacity in the 1934 convention. The republican party divides the honor between house and senate leaders. Senator Moses, of New Hampshire, presided at the 1928 convention. Representative B. H. Snell, of New York, has been agreed upon for permanent chairman of the 1932 convention. House demagogues supporting Governor Roosevelt's candidacy are backing Mr. Crisp, arguing that the democrats of that body should be so recognized by having one of their number preside over the convention.

Democrats of the "Stop Roosevelt" group, who favor Huet Shouse as the keynote speaker at Chicago, were not surprised at the reports that Roosevelt leaders were opposed to according him this honor. They fully expected such opposition.

Senator Barkley, of Kentucky, has been among those suggested as acceptable to the Roosevelt leaders. The temporary chairmanship, Kentucky is not regarded as favorable to Governor Roosevelt, and some members of the group opposing the New Yorker said here today that Senator Barkley had been suggested in the hope that his selection might influence Kentucky's delegates.

Lawyer Slays Self

FRED E. HARRISON.

FRED E. HARRISON COMMITTS SUICIDE

Lawyer Uses Pistol Borrowed From Chief Poole To End Own Life.

A hint of the bizarre was given in a note written by Fred E. Harrison, widely known lawyer, before he shot himself to death Tuesday morning as he sat in his automobile on the Chamblee-Tucker road near Peachtree creek. A coroner's jury Tuesday afternoon returned a verdict of suicide.

A revolver which belonged to Chief of Detectives A. Lamar Poole, of Atlanta, was clutched in his hand and a bullet had penetrated his heart. A note addressed to Chief Poole, said: "Lem, Old Pal, I swiped your pistol but I sure made good use of it."

Then followed instructions for disposition of the body with a request that it be sent to Harry G. Poole. Another note instructed that Chief Poole be notified at once. No reason for taking his life was given in either note.

It was recalled at Atlanta police headquarters that Mr. Harrison had attempted to borrow a pistol from two officers Tuesday, but both policemen declined to lend one. He said he "wanted to kill a dog."

Following the discovery of the body it was carried to the funeral home of A. S. Turner in Decatur, where the inquest was held.

Harrison was widely known in legal circles. He resided at 1680 Rock Springs road and is survived by his wife and one daughter, Miss Helen Harrison. Funeral arrangements were to be announced later.

SECOND CANDIDATE
ENTERS FLORIDA RACE

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., March 22.

(AP)—A second candidate for the democratic nomination for governor of Florida qualified today with Secretary of State R. A. Gray for participation in the party primary of June 1. He was former Governor Cary A. Hardee, of Live Oak. John W. Martin, of Jacksonville, another former governor, qualified several days ago.

Police Chief Is Held In Kidnaping Case

BERLIN, Md., March 22.—(AP)—Robert Allen, chief of police of Ocean City, Md., and George K. Jarvis, wealthy cattleman, were arrested today on charges of kidnaping, leveled against them by Charles W. Brown. The arrests were made by Sheriff William F. Purnell on warrants sworn to by Brown yesterday, after he had been found chained to a tree in a swamp. He told a story of being kidnaped and held prisoner for four days, during which he was threatened with death unless he signed statements presented by his captors.

One of these, he said, involved a liquor case in which he was concerned and the other a libel suit he had entered against Jarvis. He said he recognized Allen when he tore a mask from the face of one of his captors.

Allen and Jarvis both denied being implicated in the kidnaping when they were arrested.

CONFESSED SLAYER ADMITS ROBBERY TO SAVE ANOTHER

MIAMI, Fla., March 22.—(AP)—C. D. (Red) Cason, confessed slayer of Frank D. Palmer, Miami druggist, and now awaiting death in the state's electric chair, wants to take the blame for a robbery for which another man was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Levine Jernigan was convicted of armed robbery of the drug store of L. F. O'Quinn, in Coconut Grove, after O'Quinn identified him from the witness stand. The robbery occurred about 10 days before the New Year's Eve slaying of Palmer, formerly of Macon, Ga.

Cason told county officials today he and Frank Moulton, under life sentence in connection with the Palmer case, committed the robbery.

Assistant County Solicitor G. A. Worley said he would investigate Cason's statement thoroughly, and if he found a semblance of truth, he would ask for a new trial for Jernigan.

BRAZIL TO RETURN TO CONSTITUTION

Vargas To Fix Dates for General Election Assuring Military Rule's End.

RIO DE JANEIRO, March 22.—The de facto president of Brazil, Getulio Vargas, tonight agreed to sign a decree fixing dates for general elections to restore constitutional government to the country. No dates were mentioned, but it was understood the decree would satisfy a demand from the state of Rio Grande do Sul for prompt termination of Vargas' military rule.

In return for this concession Rio Grande political leaders agreed to withdraw their insistence upon a supreme court inquiry into the recent "military attack" on the Rio de Janeiro newspaper Carioca, permitting the case to follow a normal course in the courts.

Thus was healed a break between the provisional president and his colleagues from the south, which had threatened for two weeks to disrupt the political equilibrium of Brazil.

BANKING POLICIES STIR CAPPER'S IRE

"Exploitation of Public" in Sale of Foreign Securities Assailed.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—(AP)—The federal government was charged today by Senator Capper, republican, Kansas, with aiding, at least by implication, the exploitation of the American investing public through the sale of worthless foreign securities by bankers "gone mad with the lust for profits."

Reviewing the results of the senate's foreign bond investigation in a speech over the Columbia Broadcasting System, Capper said the American investing public "was entitled to protection from its state department."

Capper said the international bankers had "ignored every sound principle of banking and even of ethical bond salesmanship, to unload upon American investors billions of worthless foreign securities for the sake of profits."

"It will be a long time, I hope and believe," Capper added, "before American investors will be led into another great international snipe hunt by big pseudo-banking houses, and the American investors left holding the sack for literally billions and billions of dollars."

"America has a heavy score to settle with these international bankers, and with those who aided and abetted them."

POSTHUMOUS HONOR PLANNED FOR MORSE

NEW YORK, March 22.—(AP)—Samuel F. B. Morse, artist and inventor of the telegraph, is to be honored posthumously Monday. The National Academy of Design, one of the country's oldest art organizations, will award him its "president's medal." He was the academy's founder.

GEORGE W. CRUSSELLE, CIVIL ENGINEER, PASSES

George W. Crusselle, widely-known civil engineer, died Tuesday night at a private hospital after a brief illness. He was 65 years old. He made his home at 41 Ormond street.

Mr. Crusselle was born in Atlanta and attended Boys' High school. Later he attended the North Georgia Agricultural college from which he was graduated.

Mr. Crusselle spent most of his life in Atlanta though for about 10 years he was engaged in engineering projects on the west coast.

He is survived by a son, W. X. Crusselle, of San Francisco; three brothers, Edward and A. B. Crusselle, of Atlanta, and B. H. Crusselle, of Tampa, and a sister, Mrs. Celia Harvey, of Atlanta.

Arrangements for the funeral are being made by the Brandon, Bond & Conson Company.

Credit Men's Association Elects Officers, Selects Savannah for Next Year's Meeting

W. H. Perry, Montgomery, Ala.; A. E. Maurin, New Orleans, and Max Heiburg, Pensacola.

A resolution was adopted at the morning session recommending that the national association hold its 1933 meeting at Memphis. Another resolution invited the co-operation of the insurance companies in tracing accounts.

The session began with breakfast round table discussions of phases of credit operation. Robert Strickland Jr., executive vice president of the Trust Company of Georgia, spoke on "The Banker's Interest in Merchants' Credit Practices." The public accountant's attitude toward the merchants' credit practices were explained by E. W. Gottenstrater, southern manager of Touche, Niven & Co., of Atlanta.

H. T. Conner, of Macon, told of increasing sales through analyses of accounts, and "Tracing Skips" was the subject of N. B. Blackford, of Nashville. H. C. Stroupe, of Memphis, explained how merchants' co-operative prompt pay campaigns might be inaugurated. Round table discussions at a group of luncheons followed.

A feature of the afternoon session was the discussion by Dr. J. T. Miller, professor of psychology at the University of Tennessee, of the new conception of credit and its relation to the consumer. He said that the fact that credit had withstood the effects of the depression so well attested its inherent soundness as an economic principle.

Consumer financing was discussed by L. S. Gilbert and E. E. Branch.

At 5 o'clock other guests of the conference arrived and tea was served.

Both contract and auction bridge were played and prizes were awarded. At intervals the guests were entertained by the following little dancers: Ann Hinkle with "Just Me," a novellette; Jean Fambrough and Elizabeth Respass in a toe duet; Baby Jane Carey in an Easter baby chick dance; Margaret Tutan in a military tap; and Doris Fowler with "ballerina exquisite."

The women's division and the wives of the members of the National Retail Credit Men's Association attending the conference were entertained at a bridge-luncheon Tuesday at the East Lake Country Club.

Mrs. Myrtle Marie Woolley, credit manager of Regenstein's Prachtstore, who was hostess to the conference throughout its stay in Atlanta, was assisted in entertaining Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. A. S. Barnwell, Mrs. J. C. Anderson, Mrs. L. S. Gilbert, Mrs. Jim Elvatt, Mrs. A. B. Madison, Mrs. J. J. Doran and Mrs. Frank Thomas.

The decorative scheme for the occasion was green and white. The beautiful clubhouse was profusely decorated with white spring flowers and Easter lilies and the unshaded tapers were pale green.

BANKER IS ACQUITTED OF SEED LOAN FRAUDS

Two Other Cases Nolle Prossed by Officials at Dothan.

DOOTHAN, Ala., March 22.—(AP)—Judge C. B. Kennamer in United States district court today ordered a directed verdict of acquittal for J. Lillian Crawford, former Dothan bank president, in his trial on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government in obtaining seed loans.

Charges against William B. Jeffries, former Houston county tax collector, and Spurgeon Jones, jointly indicted with Crawford, were nolle prossed by Harry S. Barger, assistant United States attorney-general.

Motions for directed verdicts of acquittal were entered by defense counsel after the government rested. Judge Kennamer granted the motion for Crawford for lack of sufficient evidence to hold him. Barger then made his motion, which was granted.

Trial of the remainder of the cases for alleged violation of the federal seed loan act were continued to the next term of court due to the death of the mother of J. H. Lynch, seed loan administrator of Washington, and a government witness.

Pontiac's low price makes V-8 brilliance easy to buy

CHIEF OF VALUES

Pontiac offers these important developments at no extra cost

- SYNCHRO-MESH
- QUIET SECOND
- FREE WHEELING
- RIDE CONTROL
- LONGER WHEELBASE
- INCREASED POWER AND HIGH SPEED
- NEW, ROOMIER FISHER BODIES
- INSIDE LOCKS ON ALL DOORS
- RUBBER CUSHIONING AT 47 CHASSIS POINTS

Since the early days of the automotive industry, the V-type motor has been accepted as representing the highest order of smoothness, brilliance and reliability. Now Pontiac brings proved V-Eight brilliance to the low-price field—and makes it easy to buy!

It provides, too, the ample size, weight, balance, strength and road stability you want in big, substantial, fine cars.

The Fisher bodies express the last word in distinctive beauty combined with expert craftsmanship. They are longer, wider and more generously roomy than ever before.

In so fine a car, you expect and receive as standard equipment with no extra charge all the year's important developments including Synchro-Mesh with silent second, Free Wheeling, and Ride Control.

Then, there is a remarkably complete system of rubber cushioning throughout chassis and body—47 points in all.

If you have owned smaller, less capable cars, Pontiac V-8 will enable you to advance all your motoring standards, without greatly increasing your expenditure. If you have driven expensive cars, Pontiac will give you most of the same advantages at far lower cost. Liberal G. M. A. C. terms if desired.

Tune in on PAUL WHITEMAN and his Pontiac Chieftains—with Mildred Bailey, Jack Fulton and a guest star—every Friday evening—over the N. B. C. coast-to-coast Blue Network—Station WSB at 9 o'clock.

L. L. BEALL, ENGINEER, PASSES AT AGE OF 66

A heart attack Tuesday morning caused the death of L. L. Beall, chief engineer of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Coast railroad, at his home at 378 Fifth street, N. E. Mr. Beall had been ill with a cold for the last three weeks, but had spent part of Monday at his office, it was said. He was 66 years old.

Funeral services will be held at the Spring Hill chapel of H. M. Patterson and Son at 10:30 o'clock this morning. Dr. Richard Orme Flinn, and Dr. W. W. Memminger will officiate at the rites. The body will be carried to Cumberland, Md., for interment.

Mr. Beall, a native of Cumberland, was location engineer for the Seaboard Air Line railroad prior to becoming chief engineer for the A. B. & C. He also had been connected with the Georgia railroad, the Atlanta & West Point, the Charleston & Western Carolina, the Georgia Southern & Florida, and the St. Louis & San Francisco.

He was a graduate of Lafayette College, Easton, Pa., where he was a member of the Delta Upsilon fraternity. He was a member of the North Avenue Presbyterian church, in which he was active during his residence here. He moved to Atlanta in 1912.

In addition to his wife, Mr. Beall is survived by a daughter, Mrs. L. D. Thames, and a son, Joseph S. Beall, of Atlanta, two brothers, George Beall, of Durham, N. C., and William Beall, of California, and two sisters, Mrs. Gus Mason, of Hagerstown, Md., and Mrs. Grayson Burres, of Toronto, Canada.

VIRGINIA LIFE SHOWS INCREASE DURING 1931

Substantial gains during 1931 in insurance in force, gross income, and assets were revealed in the annual statement of the Life Insurance Company of Virginia recently released by its president, Bradford H. Walker.

Commenting on the company's sixty-first annual report, Mr. Walker pointed out that insurance in force on December 31, 1931, amounted to $387,823,631, representing a gain for the past year of $12,579,761. The company's gross income in 1931 was $17,119,287.79, an increase of $298,557.93 over the preceding year, $3,256,698.18 were added to assets, bringing the total for this item to $72,370,823.17 as of December 31, 1931.

Additions to surplus during the past year made up a total of $3,141,014.84 which, with the $5,000,000 of capital stock, gives the company a surplus of assets over liabilities aggregating $10,141,014.84. With a total of $45,005,692.15 in loans on real estate, including loans on farm properties of $692,734.49, particular attention is called to the fact that the company holds only $342,934.98 in real estate acquired by foreclosure.

ATLANTA, GA., MARCH 23, 1932.

ATTENTION OF THE NATION ON GEORGIA TODAY.

The ringing endorsement of Governor Roosevelt's candidacy by J. Sid Tiller, president of the State Federation of Trades; A. Steve Nance, president of the Atlanta Federation; and M. B. Collins, past state councillor of the Junior Order, emphasizes the unanimity of support he will receive at the polls of Georgia today.

Labor, the farmers of the state, our financial, business and professional men are united in the support of Roosevelt for many reasons. He is an adopted son of the state; he lives here much of his time; he has large interests in Georgia; as president his home in Warm Springs would be the temporary White House for many weeks each year—and, more important than all, he has the confidence and affection of our people as a whole.

Labor has never had a better friend than Roosevelt has shown himself to be as governor of New York. It was logical, therefore, that leaders of the ability and caliber of Presidents Nance and Tiller would not be hoodwinked by the astounding campaign of misrepresentation and deceit that has been waged against him.

These two efficient and conscientious labor officials have the best interest not only of the forces of labor at heart, but also that of the state and the nation.

Even in the heat of the recent recall election their good faith was never questioned, however much one may have disagreed with them.

There is no danger that Roosevelt will lose a single county in today's balloting. So the real importance is not as to the result, which is a foregone conclusion, but in the solidarity of the vote.

Our voters are too prone to "let George do it" when it comes to exercising their chief prerogative of citizenship. This is one time that they cannot afford to take such an attitude because the good name of the state is at stake.

For weeks false, garbled and misleading reports have been sent out from Georgia to all parts of the country. These reports have reflected upon the intelligence of our people and involved their good faith. There is only one way in which they can rebuke this willful disregard for the truth, and that is at the polls.

So don't fail to vote today!

RAILROADS GET BUSY.

The program adopted by the railroads serving the northwestern states to combat truck competition will undoubtedly be carefully watched by the other rail lines of the country.

All the roads operating in the territory between Chicago, Milwaukee, Kansas City and Omaha are now handling mixed freights in carloads on a rate based merely on weight and distance, eliminating classification of rates according to the articles comprising the shipments.

Heretofore shippers of freight in less than carload lots have had to pay higher rates than the manufacturer who ships one or more carloads at a time, but now they are on the same basis.

Unquestionably up to this time it has been more economical and convenient for the small shippers of the country to ship by truck than by freight. The trucks back up to the warehouses of the shippers and deliver directly to the addressee—at cheaper rates than those charged by the railroads.

Now the railroads are seriously turning their attention to the matter of getting back the vast volume of business represented in these small shipments. If they succeed by the present program, or by others that may be tried out in future, they will have taken a long step forward towards solving the problem of truck competition.

MRS. JOSEPH M. HIGH.

In the death of Mrs. Joseph M. High Atlanta loses a citizen who during her long and useful life lived up to the highest ideals of civic duty.

The widow of one of Atlanta's pioneer merchants, Mrs. High put much of her ample fortune to liberal use in forwarding the cultural and patriotic interests of the city and in aiding various charitable and educational institutions.

The presentation of her beautiful home on Peachtree street for use as a civic art museum gave Atlanta its first institution devoted to the cultural arts. The museum, which was given her name, now ranks among the best in the south.

The carving by Gutzon Borglum of the statue of Alexander H. Stephens, vice president of the Confederacy, to be placed in the National Hall of Fame in Washington, was made possible through her generosity. She also aided materially in the placing of a statue of Dr. Crawford W. Long as the other Georgian honored in the hall of fame.

Mrs. High was for many years a leader in the Daughters of the American Revolution, the United Daughters of the Confederacy and was the founder and honorary life president of the Georgia Society of the Daughters, Founders and Patriots of America.

For many years Mrs. High devoted much of her attention to the work of the North Avenue Presbyterian church, to which she gave our financial, business and professional men are united in the support of Roosevelt for many reasons. He is an adopted son of the state; he lives here much of his time; he has large interests in Georgia; as president his home in Warm Springs would be the temporary White House for many weeks each year—and, more important than all, he has the confidence and affection of our people as a whole.

RAPING THE FARM BOARD.

The demand of Senator Byrnes, of South Carolina, that the farm board be abolished and its duties transferred to the department of agriculture failed to make much impression on the republican majority in the senate, but has met with favorable response throughout the country.

The Chicago Tribune, stanchly republican although it is, feels that "it is fortunate for American agriculture that the opposition to the farm board is not confined to a few middlemen, but that the farmers themselves are up in arms against the board."

Almost as a unit the press of the country agrees with Senator Byrnes that there can be no thorough program of consolidation of useless and inefficient bureaus and boards at Washington so long as the existence of the farm board gives us two departments of agriculture.

Practically every major step taken by the farm board has made the condition of the farmer worse instead of better. Refusing to learn from the experiences of such countries as Brazil and Russia where attempts at price-fixing through hoarding brought disaster, the board attempted the same thing with American farm products—with the same results.

The chief objectives of the board have all been at variance with the law of supply and demand. There could have been but one result. The state should now be wiped clean, and the necessary farm relief steps should be turned over to the department of agriculture.

Some one wants to know how high in air life can exist. We don't know. Ask the republican administration.

A bridge expert says there are 14,896,780 possible bridge hands. And yet with all those chances, we almost invariably draw an impossible one.

A news item says a woman sued a railroad for $50,000 for loss of the senses of taste and smell in a railroad accident. Evidently her sense of touch wasn't impaired.

A feminist says most women make fools of themselves copying men. Well, that's copying them, isn't it?

A judge rules that a man has the legal right to open his wife's letters. And there's no law against teasing hornets.

Scientists now say that the universe is exploding. So are many scientific theories.

A psychologist says modern young women do not think. Maybe not, but they cause a lot of thinking.

Women in increasing numbers are taking up law. And it's high time—they've laid down enough of it.

"What is the greatest need of the democratic party?" asks a politician. "Oh, hand, we'd say more democrats."

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASEN

Near East Is Stirring.

King Ibn Saud, the picturesque leader of the Wahabite sect, is calling a Pan-Arabic congress to Mecca. There will be no reports in the papers as to the proceedings at the meeting, for no white infidel dog-unbeliever has ever set foot in the Holy City and none will on this occasion.

Ibn Saud is calling for representation from all Arabic countries to discuss possibilities of putting up a joint fight against western imperialism. It is time, he thinks, that the Arabs are freed from the powers, protectors and other imperialist overlords, who have held power over them these many years. The great question is, whether the Arabs will heed King Ibn Saud's call.

Two years ago the Egyptian premier told me: "We Egyptians have nothing to expect from a Pan-Arabic movement. We are Arabs by race only, but Egyptians by nationality. We have plenty of problems of our own, without taking on additional obligations." But even without Egypt lined up, the Pan-Arabic league may be a formidable one. Feisal, king of Iraq, cleverest of the Arabic chiefs, is said to be in on it. This is Feisal, the son of the late Sharif Hussein, who was the father of the late King Faisal, the father of the late King Faisal, the father of the late King Faisal.

Sunday Meditation.

Gnats and flies, as early as this, were dancing before my eyes as the sun was sinking beyond the Hudson. They danced in the dying sun. They danced in the dying sun. They danced in the dying sun.

Nothing on earth is permanent. Gnats perish in a few hours. Not even the earth itself is imperishable. And the sun is not immortal either. Everything is decaying from the moment of birth; men, animals, plants, planets and stars. There will come a time when nothing that we see now will remain. If that be so, is there any joy in living at all?

Does it matter whether we live long or short? Does not life seem void, purposeless, monotonous, cruel even? The flies danced on in the mellow light of the great tranquil star. Softly the darkness came stealing into the sky and the ranks of the flies were thinning. They folded up their wings and the passion of the dance was replaced by a desire to sleep. They were tired. One by one they flitted gently down toward the earth, who was ready to receive them. The mountains across the river filled with patches of purple and pockets of mauve. The winter crocus in the grass silently bent its head. Night had come. And all whispered: "The length of our lives is but a moment. The length of our lives is but a moment. The length of our lives is but a moment."

You Can Trust Him With a Gun If He Is a Big Fellow and Not Afraid

By Robert Quillen

If you are a lover of peace, it is quite probable that you oppose all armament and regard it as a cause of war.

In theory you are right. But no argument for or against armament applies to the United States as it does to other nations.

The great struggle that so nearly destroyed the civilization of Europe gave final proof that preparation for war does not insure peace between nations that are not longed for.

But what is true of Europe is not true of America. The nations of Europe are divided only by imaginary lines. Much bloody history has taught them to fear one another. They covet the same territory. Their people have inherited old hatreds. Young men inherit and accept the obligation to settle old scores.

Under such conditions, armament serves only to encourage and keep alive the lust for conflict and conquest.

In Japan, also, armament is deliberate preparation for war. Japan has small choice. She must practice birth control or acquire more territory. She prefers the second alternative and arms to achieve it.

Now consider the case of America. The American people, as a whole, fear no other nation. They envy no other people. They covet no territory. They nurse no hatreds. They have no grudges to settle.

With or without armament they can be trusted to keep the peace. Witness the years of friendship with our weaker neighbors, Canada and Mexico, despite many incidents that a warlike nation would have seized upon as a pretext for conquest.

You know, and every intelligent statesman in the world knows, that America will be a menace to other nations, no matter how well armed she may be.

But why arm at all? Because no argument or example, nor any power under heaven, can persuade other nations to disarm. Dream and hope if you will, but the fact remains. And we must deal with facts—not with ideals.

While other nations arm for conquest, America must arm for self-defense.

Armament sufficient to win a war is not enough. Victory does not bring the dead to life.

America can insure peace and safety for her people only by arming so well that no other nation will dare force a war upon her.

HOLLYWOOD IN PERSON

BY MOLLIE MERRICK.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., March 22.—Jeanette MacDonald seems to be on the crest of the wave right now, with M-G-M's latest picture, "The Sign of the Cross," all bidding for her services come during the coming year.

M-G-M says they want her for a 40-week contract. She has at least two pictures in mind, and Paramount would like to plan on at least one film in which she will be directed by her husband, Fred Niblo.

In the meantime Miss MacDonald has signed contracts for European appearances, and she will take several months' vacation for the year to come.

So you can figure it out for yourself, if you will, that plan her vacations for the year to come.

Jim Tully's unpublished novel, "Laughter in Hell," has been bought by Universal. This story deals with the chain gangs of the southern states and Carl Laemmle Jr. hopes to get Victor McLaglen to play the leading part.

In the meantime McLaglen has planned a vaudeville tour that will take him to the coast and to the east. He will be accompanied by his wife, Lila Lee, who will play the part of "Radio Patrol," the Universal story in which she plays the lead.

This is good news as Miss Lee has

Babe in Arms Escapes As Car Strikes Motor

GREENVILLE, S. C., March 22.

(AP)—An infant in its mother's arms escaped injury when a truck struck a car in which she was riding, and injured her mother as the family walked along a highway near here yesterday.

Myrtle Bateson, 18, and her six-year-old brother, William, were killed. The mother was slightly injured. The two-year-old baby escaped unhurt.

O. C. Lyles, of Travelers Rest, driver of the truck, was held in jail here pending an inquest.

ACCUSER OF RUSSELL ACCUSED OF LARCENY

NEW ORLEANS, March 22.—(AP)

Charges of larceny today rested against Louis A. Block, an agent for the Securities Trading Corporation, who last week preferred charges of embezzlement against former Governor Lee M. Russell, of Mississippi, and L. C. Cadenhead, associated with him.

Block, the police said, preferred to remain in jail in New Orleans rather than make bond because he feared threats had been made against him.

The charges and counter-charges grew out of stock transactions of the firm.

MUSSOLINI TO HONOR FOUNDERS OF FASCISM

ROME, March 22.—(AP)—The founders of fascism have their day tomorrow, and a heavy veil of gloom will be cast over the city on the thirteenth anniversary of the birth of the fascist party.

There are 100 founders left. They were the men who met in Mussolini's San Sepolcro square, Milan, March 23, 1919, and issued the program of the new political party.

Tomorrow Mussolini will give each of his 100 founders an autographed certificate which testifies that the holder "participated in the constitution assembly of the Italian fascists of combat, Milan, March 23, 1919."

ROOSEVELT BACK TO GEORGIA

The New York State Federation of Trades.

"He was recommended," O'Hanlon said, "by a large number of local leaders of the New York State Federation of Labor for re-election in 1930 and was re-elected by 750,000 majority, the largest of any governor in the history of the state."

Asserting that voters will go to the polls today in virtually every county in the state, Page, in a statement issued today, said: "The purpose of the vast majority of these democrats will be to cast their ballots for Governor Roosevelt for the democratic presidential nomination and to elect him to the nation as the overwhelming choice of this state."

Polls in Fulton will be open in the city and county from 7 o'clock until 7 p. m. In DeKalb all the boxes will be opened at 6 o'clock, while in the country closing at

KENTUCKIAN BACKS ROOSEVELT MOVE

Barkley Appeals for Democratic Vote of Bluegrass for New York Leader.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—(AP) The democrats were urged to nominate Governor Roosevelt, of New York, for the presidency tonight by Senator Barkley, of Kentucky, in a statement in which he said he was not a candidate for the honor.

Barkley made his position known in replying to an inquiry from Dr. James H. Richmond, Kentucky superintendent of public instruction, who had asked the Kentucky senator whether he wished his state's delegation to the democratic convention instructed to vote for him.

The Kentucky democrat said that in his opinion it "is no time for compliments to so-called favorite sons," adding that the democratic party had its greatest opportunity since Wilson's election to "lead this nation out of incompetence and disaster."

"In my opinion," he said, "such a leadership is offered in Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Barkley's statement was an outstanding development of a day which saw William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the Kentucky senate, talking to Speaker Garner, of the house, that the latter had an excellent chance to be his party's standard-bearer.

Barkley's statement apparently eliminates one of the favorite son group of candidates whose strength might be decisive in the swing to a compromise candidate if the leading contenders failed to make headway in the early balloting.

So far Roosevelt is out in front with 57 of the 100 delegates chosen to date and the assurance of Georgia's 28 votes. That state holds a preference primary tomorrow.

Barkley said he appreciated the inquiry from Dr. Richmond but added instead of attempting to stop Governor Roosevelt's nomination, "which manifestly the people favor," he ought to unite to bring it about.

Text of Letter.

His letter to Dr. Richmond said: "Your request of this day, asking that I advise you whether it is my wish that friends of mine in Kentucky seek to have the state convention instruct the Kentucky delegation to vote for my nomination for president, is deeply appreciated.

"My answer is emphatically in the negative. I am in no sense remotely a candidate, and have not been responsible for the suggestion made by friends that the state delegation vote for me for that high office.

"Naturally I am grateful for the generous feeling that has prompted the desire of some of my friends to pay me this signal, though unmerited, compliment.

"But in my judgment this is no time for compliments to so-called favorite sons. I recognize that any man has a right to aspire to so high an honor. But the deep distress into which our country has been plunged calls for harmonious and constructive co-operation, not only among all democrats, but on the part of earnest and patriotic men and women everywhere.

"The democratic party has the greatest opportunity it has had since the election of Woodrow Wilson to lead this nation out of the morass of incompetence and disaster into which it has been precipitated by ten years of republican misrule. It has the greatest opportunity since Governor Cleveland to re-educate the country on economic questions.

"Should Unite Forces.

"It seems to me, therefore, that instead of attempting to confuse and clutter up the situation and waste our energy and opportunity by putting forth local aspirations or extending local compliments, we ought to be uniting our forces behind a man who can appeal to the imagination of the people and at the same time offer hope of real courage, real leadership, real understanding of the people's needs, and the ability to crystallize them into action and relief.

"In my opinion such a leadership is offered by Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"I have known Mr. Roosevelt since he was assistant secretary of the navy under Woodrow Wilson. I have worked with him in national conventions and elsewhere. I have watched his career as governor of the state of New York. I have been thrilled by his heroic, yet fair and just and patient fight for clean and honest government. The people have confidence in his integrity, his high purposes and his progressive and constructive statesmanship. Instead of attempting to stop a nomination which manifestly the people favor, we ought to unite to bring it about.

"That he will be nominated at the Chicago convention I earnestly hope and believe, and that he will, when nominated, be overwhelmingly elected. I have not the slightest doubt. I trust the Kentucky state convention will instruct its delegates to vote for and help procure his nomination."

20 MORE PLACES GIVEN UNEMPLOYED IN ATLANTA DRIVE

Twenty additional jobs were found Tuesday by workers in the united action campaign to relieve unemployment, bringing Atlanta's total since the drive began less than a month ago to 1,948, it was announced by officials.

Workers are continuing their un-daunted campaign and house-to-house and business-to-business calls are made. Citizens are urged to employ at least one person for a period of time and entire blocks are requested to join together in giving cleaning and repairing and painting work to unemployed.

Captain William A. Simon, state adjutant of the Legion, which organization is leading the campaign, said that results over the state are gratifying and so far more than 7,000 jobs have been found.

UKRAINIAN BLOODSHED IS DENIED BY SOVIET

MOSCOW, March 22.—(AP)—Soviet officials today characterized reports of bloodshed on the Ukrainian frontier, emanating from Bucharest yesterday, as "too absurd to warrant a formal denial."

Yesterday's reports said Rumanian military posts on the border told of women having been shot down in the Ukraine by soldiers of the red army who sought to destroy churches and religious emblems.

Officials here said that area was a constant source of anti-soviet rumors which had no foundation.

13 PRISONERS ESCAPE JAIL IN TEXAS COUNTY

GAINEVILLE, Texas, March 22.—(AP)—Thirteen prisoners escaped from the Cooke county jail early today. They tried to break down a door and lowered themselves to the ground by a rope improvised from blanket strips.

14 Boxes Open in Fulton Today; DeKalb Will Have 18 Precincts

Fulton county voters will cast their ballots in the Georgia presidential primary today at 14 precincts and DeKalb voters will visit the polls in 18 precincts. The polls will be open from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. in both the city and county precincts in Fulton. Hewitt Chambers, secretary of the county committee, said the county districts had volunteered to remain open so that the largest vote possible might be cast. Managers and clerks, both in the county and city, are working today voluntarily, Chambers said.

Hours in DeKalb will be 6 to 8 in city precincts and 6 to 3 in country districts, central standard time. Fulton county polls will include Milton county and old Campbell county. The precincts in both counties follow:

Fulton County Courthouse—Any registered voter in Fulton county (including old Milton and old Campbell) may cast his or her vote at Fulton county courthouse in Atlanta.

For All Voters in the Territory Comprising Old Milton County—Courthouse, Alpharetta.

For Oak Grove, Grogan's and Buckhead Districts—Schley's drug store, 3057 Peachtree road.

For Eighth Ward and Peachtree District—Marshall's pharmacy, 906 Peachtree street, N. E.

For the Fourth, Ninth and Thirteenth Wards—Burnett's pharmacy, 455 Ponce de Leon avenue, between Boulevard and Park Way drive.

For the First, Second, Third, Sixth and Eleventh Wards, also Blackhall and South Bend Districts—Fulton county courthouse, Fulton.

For the Seventh and Tenth Wards, also Adamsville, Bryants and Poole's Districts—Medlock's pharmacy, corner of Lee and Gordon streets.

For the Fifth Ward, also Center Hill, Collins and Cook's Districts—Pierce's drug store, 709 Marietta street, corner of Marietta street and Bankhead avenue.

For all voters in East Point—Old city hall, East Point.

For College Park—Judge Godby's courtroom, College Park.

For Hapeville—City auditorium, Hapeville.

For Red Oak, Sandtown and Old Ninth Districts of Old Campbell County—Justice of the peace courtroom, Red Oak.

For Campbellton, Union City, Fair-burn and Union Districts of Old Campbell County—Old Campbell County bank, Fairburn.

For Goodie's, Riverturn and Palmetto Districts of Old Campbell County—Granite Warehouse, Palmetto.

DeKalb County.

Polling places will be open in all precincts of DeKalb county in Wednesday's primary, according to J. C. Estes, chairman of the DeKalb county democratic executive committee, and the officials in charge of each polling place will serve without charge.

All voters in Decatur and Avondale Estates will cast their ballots at the courthouse in Decatur.

Voters in the Edgewood district will ballot at Judge William Buchanan's courtroom at the corner of Whiteford and DeKalb avenues, or at Lloyd's dry cleaning establishment, 395 Moreland avenue, N. E.

There will be two polling places in Kirkwood—one at Fleming's store, at the corner of DeKalb avenue and Howard street; and the other at Medlock's pharmacy, at the corner of Boulevard drive and Kirkwood road.

The east Atlanta polling place will be at the East Atlanta bank building on Flat Shoals.

Polling places in all other precincts throughout the county, including Clarkston, Stone Mountain, Redan, Kildike, Lithonia, Tucker, Cross Keys, Diamonds, Panthersville, Evans, Rock Chapel and Mills, will be at the usual locations.

JURY'S ACQUITTAL FAILS TO SAVE MAN FROM PRISON TERM

NEW YORK, March 22.—(AP)—Dan Nevins guessed wrong. He was on trial for first-degree murder yesterday. The jury was deliberating. Conviction meant the chair.

Nevins grew more and more nervous. Finally he agreed to enter a plea of guilty to second-degree manslaughter, and take a sentence of from 5 to 10 years' imprisonment.

Sentence was imposed.

While the formality was taking place, the jury, unaware of Nevins' action, finished its deliberation. The verdict, however, was not accepted, in view of Nevins' plea.

The verdict was not guilty.

APACHE BEGINS TRIP TO CELL FOR MURDER

Appeal Planned for Indian Convicted of Slaying Girl Student.

GLOBE, Ariz., March 22.—(AP)—A usually stoical Apache family wept today as a son—Mac (Golson) Seymour—bade them goodbye before starting to prison after being convicted of murder.

Seymour, 22-year-old range rider, was sentenced to life imprisonment for the slaying of Henrietta Schmeidler, 25-year-old Columbia University anthropology student. He will be sent to McNeil Island prison, Washington.

Handcuffed to another prisoner, Seymour was taken from Gila county jail by an automobile to Phoenix. He will be held there until transferred to McNeil Island.

A jury last night convicted Seymour of first degree murder with punishment fixed at life imprisonment. Federal Judge Albert M. Sames pronounced sentence this morning.

As Seymour walked from the jail he was greeted by his aged father and mother, his 6-year-old brother, and his wife and infant child. He bent over his tearful wife and kissed her and the baby in a poignant case of the cost of Seymour's trial defense.

'Head and Shoulders Above Field,' Roosevelt Termed by John I. Kelly

Admitting that there are many good men in the democratic party who could and would, if elected, fill the office of president with distinguished ability, "one man stands out head and shoulders above them all, and he is Franklin D. Roosevelt," John I. Kelly, assistant attorney-general, asserted in the final radio address of the campaign Tuesday night.

Kelly, who, until his appointment several months ago, was a prominent member of the north Georgia bar, is a member of the democratic state executive committee, former secretary to and one of the late Thomas E. Watson's trusted leaders. He was introduced to his radio audience by Lawrence S. Camp, democratic state chairman.

Asserting that he did not decide to support Roosevelt "until the force of his personality and achievements drove me to the conclusion that he was the one man who could lead our party to victory," Kelly said:

"In every state where a preferential primary has been held his name has been submitted to the voters, and in every instance, without a single exception, he has been the overwhelming choice of the electorate. No other name has so appealed to the masses, and no other candidate has so frightened entrenched predatory wealth. As governor of New York he has thoroughly demonstrated himself to be a fearless champion of the people—unafraid of the powerful moneyed influences which control Wall Street and through Wall Street the country at large.

Fairness Demonstrated.

"Yet, at the same time, he has demonstrated that he can be fair to all classes of legitimate business, whether large or small, so long as that business is conducted in a manner that is fair to the public and not subversive of the rights of the masses. I find in the New York Times of Monday, March 21, which reached Atlanta this morning, two significant news stories. One to the effect that the National Popular Government League, after a survey of all presidential candidates, ranks Governor Roosevelt as the only full ally of the public on the power issue. The other quotes William H. Woodin, president of the American Car & Foundry Company, chairman of the board of the American Locomotive Company and director of the Federal Reserve bank, as declaring that the only business which has anything to offer the country is the election of Governor Roosevelt as 'bad business.' "This being true, is it any wonder that the eyes of the people are turned at this time to the democratic party for relief and succor? Where should they be able to turn with more hope and confidence than to the party of Jefferson, with all of its heritage of policy and tradition?"

"Shall we fail them? Shall we fight among ourselves, close our ears to the call of our people for united effort in wresting the affairs of our country from the hands of the few and in restoring our government to the hands of the people? Shall we nominate someone for a standard bearer who has not submitted his name as a candidate so that we may learn just how his candidacy will be received?"

No Time for Sectionalism.

"In the present condition in which our country finds itself, we should look solely to the selection of a candidate who can and will carry democratic principles of government to victory in the fall campaign. All other considerations should be brushed aside. This is no time to be experiencing with favorite sons—no time for indulging in sectional sentiment—and no time for our party to spend its energies in the heat of internal dissension.

"The nation is looking with favor upon the candidacy of Franklin D. Roosevelt. The people of Georgia are overwhelmingly for him. Practically all the daily papers in Georgia are for him, and the same thing may be

U. S. FORCE ASKED IN MINERS' STRIKE

Higher Courts Urged To Intervene To End Long Trouble in Ohio.

ATHENS, Ohio, March 22.—(AP)—The courts were called upon today to intervene in the strike of bituminous coal miners in the Hocking Valley and Sunday Creek fields.

In an effort to gain protection for miners who want to work, the Sunday Creek Coal Company asked the Athens county common pleas court for an injunction restraining the United Mine Workers of America from picketing the company's mines, trespassing on its property and intimidating miners.

The petition names striking miners and international and local officers of the union as defendants. No date for a hearing on the petition was fixed.

In spite of Governor George White's ultimatum that the Ohio national guard would be sent into the strike fields if law violations continued, another act of violence was recorded today.

A section of railroad track into Millfield mine No. 1 was dynamited. National guard observers reported to Adjutant General Frank D. Henderson that the scene of the latest bombing was near the Millfield mine trestle, part of which was blown up Sunday.

Leaders of the strikers, who seek recognition of the union and higher pay than offered by the operators, toured the region today, urging the strikers to maintain order. While pickets were out in force, the situation was very quiet.

chandise manager of the Castner & Knott department store, one of the largest in Nashville.

Mr. McDermott has been with Lewis & Co. for the past 16 years. He came to Atlanta from Chicago, where he was connected with Carson, Pirie & Scott Company, one of Chicago's big department stores.

He soon worked himself up to the position of general manager, which he had held for several years. Mr. McDermott was a member of the Elks and the Knights of Columbus and was a leading figure in retail merchandise circles of Atlanta.

MRS. JOSEPH M. HIGH TO BE BURIED TODAY

Leaders Will Pay Tribute to Prominent Figure in Art and Civic Circles.

Dr. Richard Orme Flind will conduct the funeral services at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon for Mrs. J. M. High, leader in art, civic and religious circles, who died Monday afternoon. Men and women prominent in Atlanta will gather to pay a last tribute to one of the city's most widely known benefactors.

Rites will be held at the residence, 58 Fifteenth street, N. E., and interment will be in the family lot in West View cemetery.

Frank Mason, J. K. Orr, J. K. Ottley, W. T. Perkins, W. R. Hoyt, William Brittain, Emmett Collier, Brooks Mott, John W. Rice, Walter Dupre, George West and Aaron Kahanow will act as pallbearers.

The following members of the Atlanta Art Association, in which Mrs. High was particularly interested, will form an honorary escort: J. J. Haverty, Charles Lordinas, Walter Hill, E. P. McBurney, Sam Evis, T. K. Glean, R. F. Maddox, R. L. Foreman and L. P. Skidmore.

The Atlanta chapters of the Daughters, Founders and Patriots of America, which Mrs. High founded; the Colonial Dames and the Daughters of the American Revolution will attend the services to pay honor to one of their most distinguished members.

Mrs. High had been ill for several weeks at her home. She has suffered several heart attacks during her illness but was not thought to be in danger. Three days before her death she was ordered to bed by her physicians and suffered another heart attack Monday, from which she did not recover, due to her weakened condition. She was 69 years old.

The beloved Atlanta woman was the wife of the late J. M. High, well-known Atlanta capitalist and founder of the J. M. High Company. One of Mrs. High's best known philanthropies was the donation of her beautiful home at 1822 Peachtree street for the High Museum of Art as a memorial to her husband's memory and for the advancement of art in the Gate City of the South.

The presentation was made in 1928, when 350 Atlanta leaders tendered Mrs. High a dinner as a tribute for her generosity.

A native of Campbell county, Mrs. High was a leader in every phase of social and cultural life and during the war was active in Red Cross work. She was of a retiring disposition and many of her charities to worthy causes have never been revealed. In her passing Atlanta loses one of its best-known patrons of art.

Mrs. High is survived by two daughters, Mrs. T. E. Williams and Mrs. D. R. Petet; three grandsons, Joe High Williams and Toulman Williams and Denny R. Petet; and a granddaughter, Miss Dorothy High Petet.

GOETHE IS HONORED BY CIVILIZED WORLD

Representatives of Nations Attend Rites Commemorating Centenary of Death.

WEIMAR, Germany, March 22.—(AP)—Statesmen, diplomats and intellectuals of many countries today came to this home town of Johann Wolfgang Goethe, great poet and philosopher of Germany, to pay him homage on the one hundredth anniversary of his death.

It was a holiday and Weimar was dressed in its Sunday best, with special decorations everywhere. Among the guests were Chancellor Heinrich Brüning, of Germany, and General Wilhelm Groener, minister of defense. President Paul von Hindenburg was represented by his secretary, Otto Meissner.

One of the most brilliant gatherings seen here since the pre-war days of the grand concert court witnessed a memorial performance of the master's "Torquato Tasso" as the culminating function in the day's observance.

The scene of the poet's death a century ago were called up when, at the conclusion of the play, Raoul Aslam, Vienna actor who played the title role, announced an epilogue spoken in 1822 in the same theater at another memorial performance of the play.

In the morning there were ceremonies at Goethe's tomb. There, where the poet rests beside his friend Schiller and the Thüringian ruling families, Chancellor Brüning at 11:25 o'clock, the exact moment of Goethe's death, deposited a wreath on behalf of the German government, and Meissner left one for the German people.

Bells tolled in all the churches of Weimar. Along an avenue leading to the tomb pylons erected for the occasion were lighted. There were wreaths from learned societies all over the world and one was placed by the Grand Duchess Feodora, with her sons, on behalf of the former Thüringian rulers.

Earlier there had been a program in the new Weimar auditorium. Frederick James Woodbridge, of New York, presented a sheepskin memorial on behalf of Columbia University. John W. Liele, United States charge d'affaires at Berlin, was present.

Professor Julius Petersen, president of the Goethe Society, delivered a tribute to the one he called "the greatest poet of all time." Carl Schreiber, of Yale University, will speak Thursday on Goethe and the United States.

LIKENED TO WASHINGTON

IN HOUSE ADDRESS

WASHINGTON, March 22.—(AP)—Johann Wolfgang Von Goethe was likened to George Washington in a tribute paid in the house today by Representative Bloom, democrat, New York, on the one hundredth anniversary of the death of the German poet.

Bloom, director of the George Washington bicentennial commission, said:

in the fields assigned them by the Great Creator the two were alike in many respects.

"They were alike first of all in being among the very few supreme minds that humanity has produced. 'No statesman was greater than Washington. No poet, not even Homer or Shakespeare, was greater than Goethe."

"Though Washington and Goethe never met, their purposes ran parallel. Their efforts were alike for human good, and the two were one in their counsels of good will."

Senate Asks Slashes In 3 Departments

WASHINGTON, March 22.—(AP)—In a drastic move for governmental economy, the senate today placed itself on record as favoring a 10 per cent reduction in all government operating expenditures, at an estimated saving of at least $250,000,000.

Confronted with figures showing the government spent twice as much money during the last year as it took in, the senate voted, 50 to 29, to send the state, justice, commerce and labor appropriation bill back to committee for a 10 per cent reduction in its total of $124,000,000.

Thirty-three democrats, sixteen republicans and one farmer-laborite voted for the motion of Senator McKellar, democrat, Tennessee, to send the bill back to the appropriations committee. Six democrats and twenty-three republicans opposed it.

It was the second of the annual supply bills the senate has sent back to the committee in its unprecedented war on waste. Last week the $57,000,000 interior department bill was returned for a 10 per cent cut.

CHURCHMEN DEFEND RIGHTS OF PACIFISTS

Four Faiths Join in Protest Against Pledge of Military Allegiance.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—(UP)—Representatives of national Protestant, Catholic, Jewish and Quaker church organizations, backed up by the Unitarian Universalist, today pleaded with the senate immigration committee to admit to citizenship pacifists unwilling to give a blanket pledge to take up arms in any war.

Pacifists now barred from naturalization, including a man and woman who served in France in the World War, may represent the highest standard of citizenship, the committee was told.

Speakers before the committee did not ask that such sincere pacifists be relieved from war-time duties. They asked only that intending citizens be not made to pledge themselves without reserve to take up arms in any war, just or unjust, any more than are judges, legislators or government officials who take the oath of office.

It was emphasized that the speakers were willing that, if pacifists refused to serve in any particular war, they should be subject to any penalties prescribed, including long term imprisonment. Freedom of conscience to decide for themselves, like the ordinary citizen, whether to fight, was the sole aim.

John W. Davis, democratic presidential nominee in 1924, and eminent international lawyers made the opening plea.

Bishop Francis J. McConnell, of New York, president of the Federal Council of Churches, Rabbi Edward L. Israel, of Baltimore, secretary of the Central Conference of American Rabbis, Father McGowan, representing the National Catholic Welfare Association, and Francis R. Taylor, of Philadelphia, representing the Society of Friends, were the other speakers.

MARJORIE RAMBEAU LOSES $40,000 SUIT FOR HEART BALM

NEW YORK, March 22.—(AP)—Marjorie Rambeau, the actress, was assessed $40,000 by a supreme court jury today on a charge of alienating the affections of her late husband, Kevin Manton, actor-husband of Mrs. Mabel Manton.

Miss Rambeau, who married Francis A. Gudgey, of Sebring, Fla., last third husband, at Yuma, Ariz., last November, did not appear in court to defend the action.

The jury returned its verdict after less than 30 minutes' deliberation. Mrs. Manton, who had sued for $100,000, was the principal witness in her own behalf.

In the spring of 1925, she said, her husband was found with Miss Rambeau, child in neglect, in a New York hotel. Shortly afterward, she said, she found a note in his possession that read:

"Darling, I love you. Nothing can keep us apart. Your pal in crime, Marjorie R."

Manton testified at his wife's divorce suit, which followed, that he had been known as a respectable man and had held several sales positions with various Atlanta firms.

Officials of the Rogers company said that Mr. Manton's quit action in beating the bandit to death was a result of schooling given to 20 warehouse executives and superintendents in pistol practice. Regular drill with drawing and firing pistols is held weekly.

Other burglaries Tuesday were at the Joseph A. Schlesinger Candy Company, 1390 Blackfield avenue, where robbers carried away a safe and 200 yards away battered the door open and took a small amount of cash, and at the Atlantic & Pacific tea store, 563 Boulevard N. E., where $80 in cash and a quantity of groceries were stolen.

Compelling three young women employees to lie face downward on the floor, two men with drawn revolvers robbed the Jewel Tea Company, 420 Courland street, of $234 shortly before noon Tuesday. The women, Miss E. Curry and Miss Mary Wilson, were alone in the office at the time.

The Cherokee pharmacy at 458 Cherokee avenue reported that thieves entered by a window and made off with $25 in pennies and a flashlight.

SALES TAX FOES HIKE ESTATE LEVY

$10,000,000, graduated from 1 per cent on estates of $50,000.

It was estimated by the Iowa tax commission that the new law would yield $500,000,000 and $600,000,000 after three years, but not more than $100,000,000 in the first year because the value of estates would not be fixed until 18 months after death.

The present maximum rate is 20 per cent on estates over $10,000,000. The ways and means committee recommended a maximum of 40 per cent, with an exemption of $100,000. Under the Ramseyer amendment the division of 80 per cent to the states and 20 per cent to the federal government is undisturbed on the first 20 per cent of the estate tax collections but, of the remainder 25 per cent would go into the federal treasury.

Action came after the house had defeated a super-estate tax proposed by Representative Lewis, democrat, Maryland, which would have reached a maximum levy of 40 per cent on estates over $500,000. The vote was 204 to 45.

Many members were under the impression when they voted for the Ramseyer amendment that its 45 per cent maximum was in addition to the 20 per cent in existing law, for a total of 65 per cent. Later Ramseyer explained his rates exceeded that recommended by the ways and means committee by 5 per cent.

The house will take up minor legislation tomorrow, but when it resumes consideration of the sales tax, on Thursday it will have several amendments to dispose of before a real test is made.

Ways and means committee amendments proposed by Acting Chairman Crisp, exempting food, clothing, prescribed medicines, farm implements, insecticides and malt syrup when used in making bread and one by Representative Cullen, democrat, New York, to impose a 3-cent-a-pint tax on beer of 2.5 per cent alcoholic content will have to be decided upon.

Representative Blanton, democrat, Texas, reserved a point of order on the beer amendment which must be fought out. Representative Bankhead, democrat, Alabama, presiding chairman, will be asked to make a ruling on whether it can go in the bill.

It was only after prolonged discussion that the opponents of the sales levy, led by Representative Rankin, (democrat, Mississippi), acceded to the plea of Acting Chairman Crisp to bring up the estate tax and the manufacturers' levy for a quick decision.

The Georgia democrat had been instructed by his house to recommend a 10 per cent rate for a determination in order that it might recommend additional tax levies in the event the sales levy was rejected. By agreeing to eliminate the necessities of life the committee had reduced from $255,000,000 to $460,000,000 the probable yield of the proposal.

"It is to the interest of the country and to the house that action on these controversial items be expedited," he said in explaining that a "businessman is impossible," and the issue could be settled only by a vote.

Rankin insisted estate taxes be considered first. Debate got underway with Representative Lewis offering his amendment. He said his proposition would return $611,000,000 annually, of which the states would get $102,000,000. However, they would not participate in his super-tax rates.

Ramseyer explained the inheritance taxes in England netted $0,000,000 pounds annually and were heavier than those proposed in his amendment. When it became evident that the house was determined upon higher rates than provided in the bill, the ways and means committee members, including Crisp, voted for the Ramseyer amendment in preference to the Lewis proposal.

In opposing the higher rates, Crisp said: "Oh, gentlemen, I have no wealth and neither do I hold brief for the wealthy, but wealth provides industry and industry furnishes employment to many hundreds of thousands. I hope both amendments will be rejected and the committee recommendations be agreed to."

Rankin declared that the "concentration of wealth in this country is its greatest menace" and urged adoption of the Lewis amendment as a means of distributing big estates.

In a speech over the radio tonight Representative Doughton said the sales tax was "contrary to, or sins against every sound principle" of taxation.

"It is a tax on consumption, a tax on what we spend for the necessities of life, it is a tax imposed without any regard or consideration whatever for the principle of ability to pay," he asserted. "One of the chief reasons I have always been a democrat is because of the traditional theory of that party that taxes should be levied in accordance with this principle."

"So far as I am concerned no democratic convention, either state or national, has ever declared in its platform for a sales tax."

J. P. Morgan Speaks Over Radio Tonight
NEW YORK, March 22.—(AP)—J. P. Morgan will break his ironclad rule and go "on the air" tomorrow night.

The financier's first radio speech will last 15 minutes and will be broadcast over a nationwide National Broadcasting Company hookup beginning at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Morgan will step before a microphone to tell the United States the need for and the value of the "black-out" campaign now under way in New York under the direction of the emergency unemployment relief committee.

By asking residents of each block to care for one family by contributing from 10 cents to $1 a week, the campaigners hope to finance emergency wages for 20,000 unemployed family heads.

SHERIFF RE-ELECTED IN WILKES COUNTY

Tax Commissioner Also Re-named; Other Office Seekers Face Runovers.

WASHINGTON, Ga., March 22.—(AP)—Sheriff George M. Walton and Tax Commissioner T. E. Grande, of Wilkes county, were re-elected in the primary here Tuesday, but other office seekers must face runovers later.

F. E. Callaway, incumbent, will face R. M. Pharr in the run-off for clerk of the superior court; S. B. Savage and Charles H. Calhoun will compete for superintendent of schools and M. P. Waters, incumbent, will oppose C. E. Branham for coroner.

VOTES FOR OFFICES CLOSE IN HART COUNTY PRIMARY
HARTWELL, Ga., March 22.—A large vote and closeness of races for the various offices featured the regular Hart county primary held here today.

Just before midnight Tuesday, with several precincts missing, Aitis E. Eitzberger was leading J. B. Gaines and J. W. Scott, present incumbents, for the office of ordinary. There will be a run-over between the two receiving the highest number of votes.

Judge John B. Richardson and Britt Brown were unopposed for the offices of clerk of superior court and sheriff, respectively. Carl J. Ayers will be opposed by Columbus J. Cleveland in the regular election for collector, and Tom Bailey and R. T. Robertson will enter a second race for the office of tax receiver. W. B. Morris, present superintendent of schools, was defeated by B. B. Mason. A. D. Brown was named coroner.

BISHOP DECLARES DRY LAW FAILURE IN U. S. AND ALASKA
SEATTLE, March 22.—(AP)—Declaring that prohibition is a failure, not only in Alaska, but throughout the United States, Bishop Peter Trimble, of the Episcopal diocese of Alaska, declared today that the prohibition work among Alaskan natives is being seriously hampered by widespread bootlegging.

The missionary, 76 years old, has spent 40 years among the natives of the northern territory.

In one settlement, he said, drinking which started among the natives rapidly spread to the children and caused the closing of the native mission school.

The bishop said he believed a majority of Episcopalian clerics in the United States agree with his views.

TEST VOTE SOUGHT BY SENATE WETS

Twenty-four is less than a third of the senate and two-thirds is necessary for adoption of a resolution for repeal.

Senator Tydings told the senate there were at least half a dozen more ready to sign the petition who were not present and he mentioned Senator Lewis, democrat, Illinois.

The petition addressed to the judiciary committee reads: "We the undersigned members of the United States senate realizing the widespread interest and divergent opinions concerning resolutions dealing with the repeal and modification of the eighteenth amendment which are now pending before your committee do respectfully petition said committee to report said resolutions to the senate in order that a vote may be had upon the same by the membership thereof."

Those who signed the petition were: Republicans—Burrough, Birmingham; Walcott, Watson, Moses, Kean, Couzens, Carey, Hebert, Keyes, Oddie, Metcalf and Glenn.

Democrats—Tydings, Broussard, Copeland, Wagner, Wheeler, Pittman, Coolidge, Long, Walsh, of Massachusetts; Hawes and Bulkley.

Blaine and Long, of Louisiana, led the fight against the prohibition enforcement fund. The Wisconsin member said the enforcement had "involved the government in bribery and corruption."

Long said he had given enforcement officers the names of places selling liquor openly in New Orleans but the places had not been interfered with.

FREIGHT LOADINGS INCREASE IN WEEK

WASHINGTON, March 22.—(AP)—Revenue freight car loadings for the week ended March 12, 1932, reported by the American Railway Association today as 575,481 cars—the highest for any one week so far this year.

This was an increase of 10,042 cars over the preceding week, but a decrease of 158,099 below the same week a year ago.

Coal loading for the week totaled 141,450 cars, an increase of 40,083 over the preceding week and 959 above the corresponding week in 1931.

Miscellaneous freight loadings totaled 176,486 cars, a decrease of 20,095 below the same week a year ago; merchandise, 185,122, decrease 35,297; grain and grain products, 27,104, decrease 9,045; forest products, 18,967, decrease 15,826; ore, 2,245, increase 40 over the preceding week, but 3,630 under same week of 1931; coke, 7,216, increase 2,132 over preceding week, but 1,382 under a year ago; live stock, 16,901, decrease 3,217 under last year.

TEXAS FARMER, WIFE FOUND SLAIN IN HOME

TYLER, Texas, March 22.—(AP)—The battered bodies of George Bradberry, farmer, and his wife were found by a neighbor who stopped at their farm house two miles east of Arp, in the East Texas oil field. Officers said the couple appeared to have been beaten to death with a flat iron.

Druggist Gives New Formula To Stop Headaches

Realizing that no one drug can relieve all headaches, as they come from so many causes, a North Carolina pharmacist has developed a combination of several ingredients, so blended and proportioned as to relieve almost any headache in a few minutes. You can get this formula wherever drugs are sold under the name "B. C." 10c and 25c packages, and when you have one of those violent, nerve-racking headaches, from inorganic causes, "B. C." will give you soothing relief in three minutes. "B. C." should also be used for the relief of muscular aches and pains, common colds and neuralgia, reducing fever, and for quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit forming drugs.—(adv.)

ANGLO-IRISH CRISIS BREWS OVER OATH

oath to the British crown should be retained was purely an Irish matter and the people had signified their wish in the vote that raised De Valera, republican leader, to power.

The Free State government, Mr. Dulaney told Thomas, had decided that:

1. The oath was not a mandatory part of the Anglo-Irish treaty.

2. Since the Irish constitution was a people's constitution, anything affecting it belonged to the internal sovereignty and was purely a domestic matter.

3. The people had declared "without ambiguity" their will and it in itself was "more than sufficient to make the government's decision final and irrevocable."

that real peace in Ireland is impossible so long as a full representation of the people in their parliament is rendered impossible by a test of this character."

Mr. Thomas previously had informed the house of commons that he had grave information from the Free State, the details of which he would reveal tomorrow. The document will be considered by the cabinet before he makes his statement.

Meanwhile, Mr. de Valera was reaffirming his intention to abolish the oath and retain Irish land annuities in his first speech in the Free State senate in Dublin.

"We have got a mandate of the people and that mandate we intend to carry out," the president said. "An overwhelming majority of the people of this country want to remove that obstacle to permanent peace (the oath)."

It was understood that Mr. Thomas and Commissioner Dulaney did not discuss the land annuities, which De Valera has said would be withheld from England, although the secretary's brief announcement in commons today that he had received an "important document" was made in reply to a parliamentary question on the annuities.

Huge headlines on the front pages of London newspapers emphasized the Britishers' warning delivered in the house of commons by Mr. Thomas that the Irish situation was serious. He reiterated that the British government regards relations between it and the Free State government as resting on the Anglo-Irish treaty of 1921, which set up the Free State.

He said he had received no official communication in regard to De Valera's intention to suspend the payment of the land annuities. The next installment of which is due late in June.

Mr. Thomas handed the "important document" to Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, who discussed its terms with Thomas and with Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, secretary for the colonies. Mr. Chamberlain recently warned Ireland tacitly in a speech against abolishing the oath and retaining the annuities.

These annuities are collected from Irish farmers in repayment of loans made on their behalf to buy out their landlords at the time of the establishment of the Free State. They amount to 3,000,000 pounds a year.

A provision for the oath of allegiance was written into the Anglo-Irish treaty. De Valera has maintained that the terms of the treaty do not make the oath mandatory.

David Lloyd George, former liberal leader, declared today that he was confident the late Lord Birkenhead, who with him was one of the signatories of the treaty, had never described the oath of allegiance as "one of the greatest pieces of prevarication in history," as De Valera said in Dublin last night.

plate glass windows wrecked by the storm. The heaviest damage to windows was at the Denny Marmon Company, 512 West Peachtree street, where five large sheets of glass valued at more than $1,000 were smashed.

Many Trees Blown Down.
Much of the damage to signboards and windows was repaired Tuesday but scattered trees in several sections of the city were reminders that Atlanta had been on the fringe of the destructive storm. The north side of town was the heaviest loser of trees, but between the Inman Park section and Decatur many were uprooted. The city park's forestry force began the work of cleaning up the debris and removing the trunks and limbs from sidewalks and streets.

Other heavy losers of plate glass were the Haverly Furniture Company at Edgewood avenue and Pryor street, between three windows broken, and the Royal Typewriter Company, 101 Marietta street.

Workers were on the job at the Ponce de Leon baseball park early Tuesday to repair a section of the center-field fence which gave way before the wind. The repairs were completed in time for an afternoon game.

Following the storm noticeable drops in temperature came with brisk winds and the peak of the cold snap is expected by Forecaster C. E. Herrmann to be reached this morning when a reading of 34 degrees is expected.

Despite the severity of the storm only 36 of an inch of rain was recorded at the weather bureau.

One of the most graphic descriptions of the storm heard yesterday was that given by Herbert L. Kindred, veteran American Airways pilot, who flew alongside the storm as it twisted through Alabama. With T. J. Hair, co-pilot, and three passengers Monday afternoon, Kindred spied the storm while flying near Tuscaloosa and followed it for several minutes, later grounding his ship in Birmingham from where he dispatched Atlanta mail by train.

Dobbs Plans No Appeal Landis; Confident of An Agreement

BARRON PLANS ACTIVE SEASON IN LINEUP

DOBBS IS SURE OF AGREEMENT WITH CRACKERS

Former Pilot Denies He Plans Appeal to Landis.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., March 22.—I have no intention of taking my case to Judge Landis, Johnny Dobbs, the sage of Ringgold, said today while sitting in the comfort of his home—the cozy home he is willing to leave this summer, so strong is the urge to get back into baseball.

"I have never made such a statement and have no idea where it got started," the wise baseball strategist declared. "In fact, I contemplate no trouble in securing my freedom as well as salary from Atlanta."

Johnny hopes to definitely settle his status with the Crackers club so he can be in a position to accept another job, although he stated today that he has no prospect of such a position.

"I am sure that every local fan is interested in how Atlanta will handle the Dobbs case. The Crackers club has ousted him from the managerial post, meanwhile agreeing to pay him his salary this year as stipulated. However, they have so far refused to allow him to make other baseball connections, without deducting the amount he would make out of it from the sum due him from Atlanta."

Dobbs wants to be free to accept a post when the opportunity presents itself. He wants to stay in the game he loves and which he has not been out of since 1908, when he ran a dairy.

All of the higher class minor league teams have filled their vacancies now, but openings always present themselves when the season gets under way. Just why he wants to leave his spacious, beautiful farm of 176 acres with its neat, small and cozy home to be subjected to the unmerciful, fickle criticism of rabid baseball fans is mysterious in a way.

He's just Johnny Dobbs, genuine lover of the game.

The fine character who played with Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis back in the '90s has managed every club in the Southern League except Little Rock and Knoxville. (He has piloted Mobile, whose franchise Knoxville took over.)

"Be the manager," that's his guiding motto. That's what he recently told a young manager who asked him for advice.

"Stand or fall on your own judgment. Take the credit or blame yourself," as he phrased it, "when you are running a team, run it. And without outside help."

Unfounded rumors connecting him with a coaching post on the Chattanooga club seem to have been refuted by the fact that he has not Bert Niehoff would agree to such an embarrassing arrangement, for reasons obvious enough.

Bert wants to handle the team alone. So he told Johnny, if connected with the club.

Play in the first annual Georgia Sunday school basketball tournament to be sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. will start at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon on the "Y" court where teams definitely entered. There is still one vacant place to be filled and an entry will be received through Friday night.

Drawings for the event were made at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning at the "Y" and all details pertaining to the tournament were completed by the committee.

Central Presbyterian will open the card against West Side Baptist of Columbus.

Judge Virlyn Moore, of the Fulton superior court, is manager and coach of the Collins Memorial team, of Bolton, and will meet Rome's entry in the third game of the Saturday schedule.

Quarter and semi-finals will be played during the afternoon with the finals scheduled for 8 o'clock Saturday night.

Phar Lap Figure
In 'Race of Century'

CHICAGO, March 22.—(AP)—Chicago racing enthusiasts already are beginning to smack their lips at the prospect of a "race of the century" next summer, probably in the Arlington Gold Cup.

Phar Lap, Australia's big red menace to the peace and happiness of American owners, has been nominated for most of the important stake races at Washington park and Arlington park. Mate, one of the country's two great 3-year-olds of the 1931 season, is eligible for the Washington park events, and Twenty Grand, the other 1931 star, is expected to start his campaign at Arlington.

Atlanta, Toronto Meet Again Today
Although bewildered by the vicissitudes in the weather, the Atlanta Crackers and Toronto Maple Leafs last night were hoping to play a ball game today.

Three o'clock is the standing time for the start of play, provided the thermometer is favorable.

Coach Alexander's Movie Scenario Stars Young Bobby Dodd

Coach W. A. Alexander was discovered in his office at the Flats Tuesday afternoon busily engaged in writing, of all things, a movie scenario.

And there's one place I hope and trust it won't be played. And that is at Vanderbilt University. Because the hero of the first scene is Bobby Dodd, the long, tall quarterback who brought more woe to the Commodores than any other 11 men ever brought in as many years.

The scenario is for Grantland Rice's Spotlight movies. And Bobby Dodd will show, in the first scene, that old zig-zag escape of his when defensive men were rushing him on a pass.

It was a slothful, gangling sort of lope, but it always worked. And it was on one of these zig-zags that Bobby Dodd feinted the entire Vanderbilt team back and forth across the field until Buddy Hackman could work himself free and grab the pass for a touchdown.

Bobby Dodd is now coaching the backs at Georgia Tech. And when Grantland Rice's movie crew comes to town within the next few days he will enact that scene. He was a genius at escapes.

Dan McGugin, the Vanderbilt coach, called Bobby Dodd the greatest back he had seen. And he always said that Dodd seemed to have some sort of evil eye for his opponents.

"If I could have ever got my boys to look at Dodd's belt buckle and keep boring in we could have stopped him," said McGugin. "But they never would. They would look at that ball."

"I never saw a boxer feint any better than Dodd did. He would stop their rushes cold by feinting a throw. And then he would have them off stride, stumbling and stopping, until he had time to pick out a free man and shoot him the ball."

At any rate that slothful, lazy looking lope and escape is to be the first scene in the movie. And when the film gets to Nashville they can bill it as the greatest tragedy of the age.

THE JACKETS ARE PLEASED.

The Jackets are pleased at the chance to show in the films. There are no Clark Gables out there (well, not many, anyhow) but the boys are eager to perform for the Rice movies which have national theater circulation.

Another of the features is to be Jack Cannon, the great 1928 Notre Dame guard, in a series of examples of defensive and offensive line play. This has Mike Chambers, the Georgia Tech trainer, greatly worried. "Cannon is putting on weight so fast that he may show up in the pictures as broad as he is wide," said Mike Chambers. "Or he may obscure five or six men. I will take Cannon in charge immediately. By the time the movies arrive I hope to have him down to about my size, a nice, shifty weight."

CROWLEY-ZUPPKE.

It would be difficult to bring together two football coaches more productive of the unusual than Bob Zuppke, of Illinois, and Jimmy Crowley, of Michigan State. They recently visited Joe Matel, coach at Muskegon, and the story goes that when they had concluded their visit the breakfast room walls were covered with football diagrams drawn in the heat of argument. Matel is having a blackboard put in against future visits.

It was Crowley, at the charity game in New York a year ago, who had the distressed manager summoned to his room on threats to depart and take the team with him.

"Why, what is the matter, Mr. Crowley?" asked the manager. "I thought everything was fine."

"Why, look," said Crowley: "I've got a double room and just one Gideon Bible."

THE A. A. U. TOURNAMENT.

There is imminent danger that the Southeastern A. A. U. boxing tournament eliminations on Thursday may last far into the night. More than 70 entries have been received and indications are that the last fight will go on about 2 o'clock in the yawning.

Boxing seems to be popular with the amateurs even though it is dying a sort of death in so far as the professional game is concerned.

There, again, it is the fault of the fighters, managers and promoters. There are more chiselers in the fight game than any other. The fight promoters, instead of trying to interfere with others, should stick to their own game and try to undo what they have done.

ONE NEW GRID RULE SLIPS.

At least one of the new football rules seems to be meeting with real opposition. The punt on the kick-off does not sit well with the coaches who have tried it.

It is extremely doubtful that the change will be made although there is at least a chance. The rule makers are stubborn. They would not want to set a precedent in making a change at this time.

The kick-off rule was said to be the first one ever passed without a unanimous vote. And that is an opening wedge which may give the protests a better chance of getting the old rule back.

YANKEES BEAT BRAVES, 2 TO 0, IN FAST GAME

Penneck, Pipgras Pitch Three-Hit Ball in Triumph.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 22.—(AP)—With Heeb Penneck and George Pipgras pitching three-hit balls the New York Yankees defeated the Boston Braves, 2 to 0, today.

The Braves collected their three scattered hits off Pipgras through the first five innings.

Old Tom Zachary was on the mound in the first inning, when the Yankees scored all of their runs on three hits off his arm. Zachary was touched for one more hit in the fourth—a single by Gehrig—and Ray Mangum, International league recruit, let the Yanks down with two late blows—singles by Sewell and Lazzeri in the sixth and seventh innings, respectively.

Home by Innings: R H E
Boston (N) 000 000 000—2 0
New York (A) 000 000 000—2 0
Zachary, Mangum, Molloy and Baragrey, Penneck, Pipgras and Jorgens.

DOGGERS 19; DAVID 3.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 22.—(UP)—Three House of David pitchers supplied the Brooklyn Dodgers with some needed batting practice today, as the Dodgers collected 18 hits to swamp the long-beards, 19 to 3. Krider and Mattingly pitched for the Dodgers and allowed eight hits. Cohen's home run was the longest hit of the game.

Home of David: 100 020 000—3 8 2
Brooklyn: 000 000 000—18 22 3
J. Dyer, Weisman, O'Grady and Barrett, Friedman; Krider, Mattingly and Richards pitched.

REDS.

TAMPA, Fla., March 22.—(UP)—Although Babe Herman started training with the Cincinnati Reds today, after signing a one-year contract late Monday, he will not appear in the lineup against Brooklyn, his former club, at Clearwater tomorrow.

However, Ernie Lombardi and Wally Gilbert, obtained from the Dodgers along with Herman in the Red Sox trade, will battle their former mates. Si Johnson and Owen Carroll are to be Cincinnati's pitchers.

RED SOX.

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 22.—(UP)—Manager Shauno Collins will start his pitching ace, Danny MacFadyen, in the first exhibition game against an outside aggregation here tomorrow when the Hartford team of the Eastern league meets the Boston Red Sox. MacFadyen will go five innings and Pete Donahue will finish. Collins divided the squad today and had two workouts, with the regulars concentrating on inside baseball.

WHITE SOX.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 22.—(UP)—The Chicago White Sox tomorrow will play the San Antonio Indians, of the Texas league, in the last game of the spring season at the San Antonio training base. Red Faber is slated to make his debut in his twenty-fifth year in organized baseball and his nineteenth with the Sox.

AS 15; PHILLIES 7.

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 22.—(UP)—The Philadelphia Athletics made a merry-go-round of the bases as they pounded the Philadelphia Phillies for 22 hits this afternoon and beat them, 15 to 7. The Mackmen batted around the clock twice, while scoring five runs in the first inning and six in the seventh. George Davis and Rube Bressler, of the Phillies, and Max Bishop, of the Athletics, hit home runs.

Philadelphia (N) 101 010 202—7 12 0
Philadelphia (A) 101 010 025—15 22 3
Bolen, Adams, Gaudin and Todd, Campbell; Rommel, Bowman, Walberg and Madjeski, Hering.

TIGERS 11, GIANTS 2.

LOS ANGELES, March 22.—(AP)—Making 18 hits off the pitching of Gibson was the chief victim. In six innings he gave up 13 hits and 7 runs. Wyatt and Goldstein allowed only 6 Giant hits. Detroit (A) 101 040 301—11 18 1
New York (N) 000 000 000—2 6 2
Wyatt, Goldstein and Ruel, Susce; Gibson, Parmelee and O'Farrell.

INDIANS.

NEW ORLEANS, March 22.—(AP)—Dick Porter today was "put on the spot" as the Indians' lead-off man when the American league baseball season opens in about three weeks.

Although ball players generally shy at the lead-off job in that it cuts their chances at slugging and batting in runs, Porter welcomed the offer, recalling as lead-off man with the Baltimore Orioles his batting average fell off 30 points but that Manager Jack Dunn raised his salary the next year.

The Indians had no exhibition game scheduled today.

Dickson Leaves Verdict to Crowd

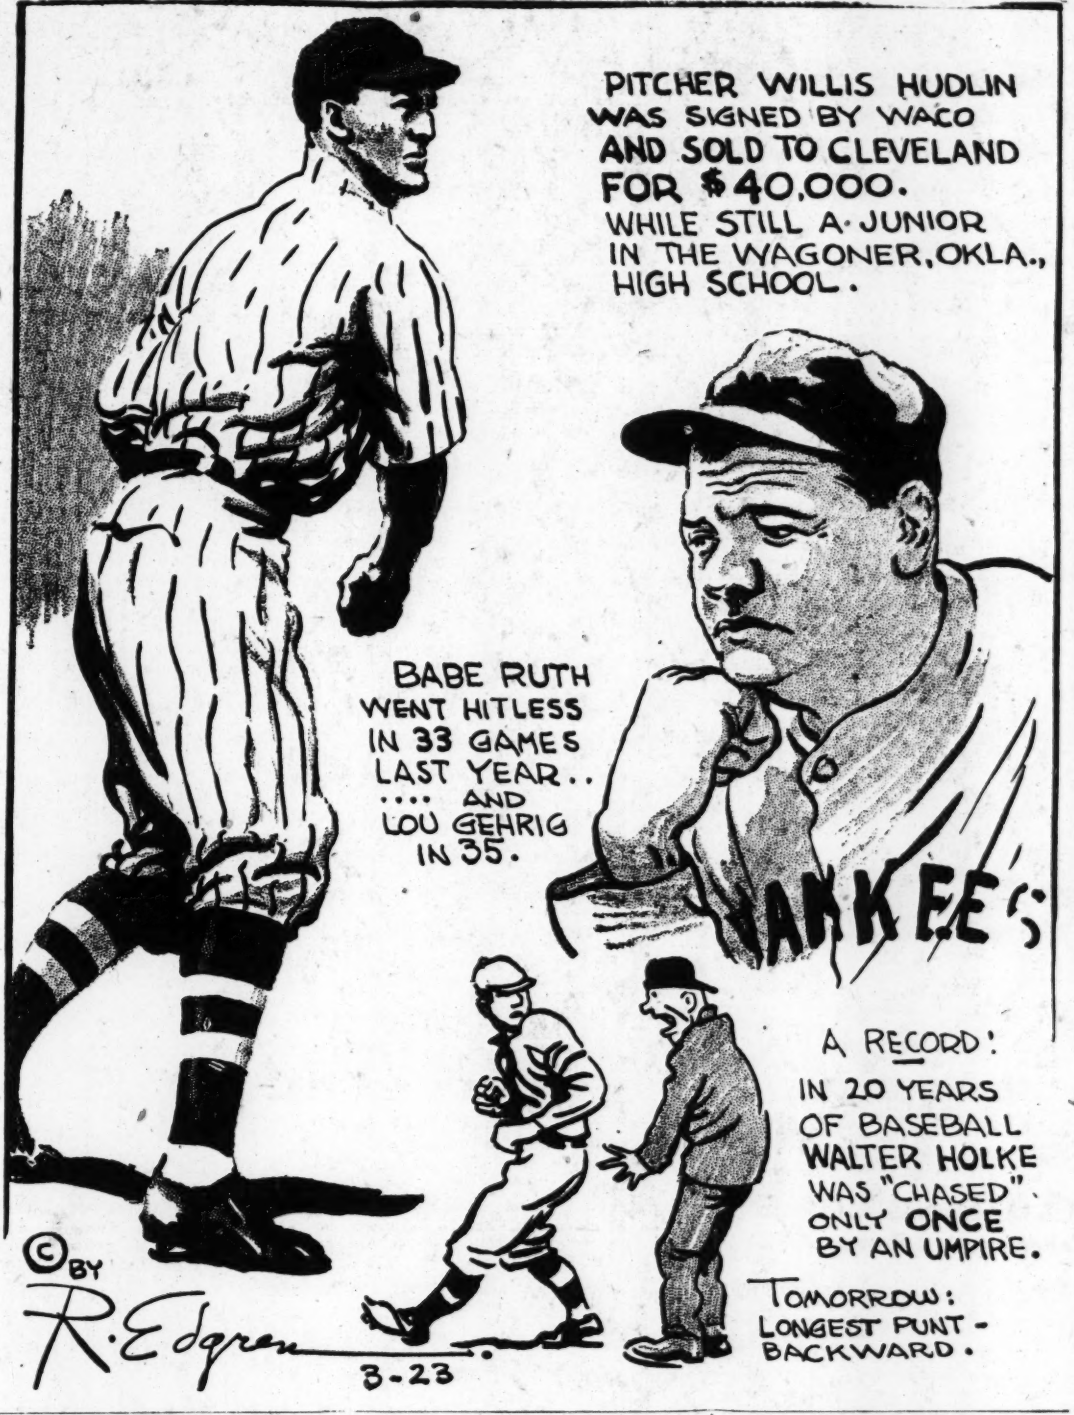

LONDON, March 22.—(AP)—Jeff Dickson, promoter, today announced that the winner of tomorrow's bout between Primo Carnera and George Cook will be determined by the spectators' applause. Dickson decided upon this plan when the managers of both men failed to agree on a referee suitable to both.

Following the announcement, the secretary of the British boxing board issued a statement declaring that the bout will be illegal if there is no referee. A meeting of the stewards has been called for tomorrow to consider the situation.

THE SCHEDULE.

September 22—Spalding High at Griffin.
September 29—Marietta here.
October 7—LaGrange at LaGrange.
October 14—Columbus at Columbus.
October 21—Griffin here.
October 28—Marietta at Marietta.

SCHEPNER SEES CLOSE CAMPAIGN

By Joe Schepner.

Manager Knoxville Club. KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 22.—(AP)—The Southern Association race this year promises to be a good one, with every club having a chance to win the pennant.

I think the pitching will be much better than last year with more close games, and not so much hitting. Knoxville, the new member of the association, will have an untied trial. It is showing great promise in early practices and should be one of the best hitting clubs in the circuit.

All players have reported in trim condition. They are displaying a wonderful spirit and are working their heads off.

While I haven't an exact line on all our men yet, we have four slugging outfielders hard to beat. They are Bigelow, who hit .372 with Chattanooga last season; Bernie Neis, who hit .314 for Minneapolis, and Hutson and Fitzgerald. We may carry four outfielders. I think Ray Thompson, our catcher, will be one of the best in the league.

Rudolph Laskowski, 16-year-old Chicago recruit, appears to be a great find. He's right in the race with the veterans for the shortstop position. Herman Jones, young first baseman, is one of the best prospects I have seen.

We have Stuffy Stewart on second, and Freigan at third. Sammy Hale, competing for an infield berth, and then we have Tommy Taylor, who can play either infield or outfield. Our pitching staff is the big question mark right now, but we have the promise of additional pitchers who should help a lot.

A loyal, hard-working club playing heads-up baseball is what we're striving for.

R. E. Lee To Meet Only Old Rivals

THOMASTON, Ga., March 22.—There are no friends like old friends and R. E. Lee, of Thomaston, will meet only old faces during the 1932 football schedule, it was announced here today.

Eight games with the last date still open. Four of those eight games are with members of the North Georgia Interscholastic conference, of which Lee is a member.

The 1932 schedule runs almost the same as last year, with the exception of one week earlier. The card opens Friday, September 22, and closes on November 18, and only three of the games will be played at home.

THE SCHEDULE.
September 22—Spalding High at Griffin.
September 29—Marietta here.
October 7—LaGrange at LaGrange.
October 14—Columbus at Columbus.
October 21—Griffin here.

Jones To Play Exhibition Today

PINEHURST, N. C., March 22.—(AP)—Bobby Crutchank, of Progress, N. Y., who lost in a play-off with Bobby Jones in 1923 for the national open golf championship, practiced today for the north and south tournament Thursday and Friday, while Jones himself stroked the same course in preparation for coming exhibition here.

Crutchank is among the latest outstanding contenders to arrive for the annual tournament here. The great body of contenders is scheduled to arrive tomorrow morning. It includes Billy Burke, national open champion; Johnny Farrell, Walter Hagen, Gene Sarazen, Willie MacFarlane, Cyril Walker, Jim Barnes and Fred MacLeod, former open champions. Wiffy Cox, north and south title defender, is also due in tomorrow.

The field also includes a great array of sectional stars and such young stars as Tom Creavy, of Albany, P. G. A. champion, and Paul Runyan, of Little Rock, former north and south champion, who is now beginning to bid for national recognition.

The first of the exhibition matches is set for tomorrow, with T. Miyamoto, Japanese open champion, in his practice round today Bobby went out in 34 and returned in even four, although he had not played sand greens since 1917, when he was here with Perry Adair and J. Douglas Edgar, stars of other days.

He played today with Jack Davidson, of New York, and M. B. Beach, of Springfield, Mass., and was followed by a great gallery which had gathered in advance of the tournament.

Bissonette Rests After Operation

NEW YORK, March 22.—(UP)—Del Bissonette, Brooklyn infielder, underwent an operation for a torn tendon in his left foot today, and hopes to return to the field tomorrow, resting "as comfortably as could be expected."

Bissonette injured his foot in training at Clearwater, Fla., several weeks ago. It failed to respond to treatment, so he was sent to New York, and yesterday he entered the hospital. Dr. Armitage Whitman performed the operation.

Dave Driscoll, business manager of the Dodgers, said the injury and operation probably would keep Del out of the game for at least eight weeks.

42 LETTERS AWARDED.

PHILADELPHIA, March 22.—(AP)—The largest basketball squad in years received awards at the University of Pennsylvania today. Forty-five of the 62 awards went to basketball players. Recipients of variety letters included: Basketball, Edwin J. Mazo, Savannah, Georgia.

AMERICAN SETS PACE IN SPRING

NEW YORK, March 22.—(AP)—The American league has piled up a winning average of .650 in 20 games with the National league so far this spring training season, winning 13 games and losing only seven.

These figures are hardly significant of the comparative strength of the two circuits, however. All 15 of the American league's victories have been chalked up by the New York Yankees and Philadelphia Athletics, favored in most quarters to finish one-two in the junior circuit. The big losers among National league clubs, on the other hand, have been the St. Louis Cardinals and the Boston Braves.

The Cardinals, as world champions, can be ranked with either the Yankees or the Athletics, but the Braves are picked to finish deep in the National league's second division.

Six of the National league's defeats have been charged to the Braves. The only clubs with perfect records in the inter-league series are the New York Yankees and the Philadelphia Athletics, both of the National league. They each have accounted for two straight wins.

A tabulation of all exhibition games, whether against major or minor league opposition, reveal the Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox as the only undefeated teams. The Indians have won seven straight games and the White Sox three, all against minor league teams. Washington has won four and lost one and Pittsburgh eight and two.

The Yankees' record of six wins and one defeat is the best so far as strictly major league opposition is concerned. The Giants and the Athletics are tied for second place with seven victories and three defeats each.

Florida Council Rewards Harriers

GAINESVILLE, Fla., March 22.—(AP)—Cross-country awards have been given by the athletic council of the University of Florida to the following: T. E. Smith, Panama City; Wilbur Ayres, Bobby Turrell and Walter Schwalb, Miami; Shuler Cox, Jacksonville; James Burnett, Tallahassee; C. Calmes and Ralph Page, Gainesville, and Manager Charles Bennett, Tampa.

Jack Doyle To Scout Dixie League Players

Jack Doyle, scout for the Chicago Cubs, is in Atlanta on his annual spring trip to the south.

Doyle, while in this vicinity, plans to see the early games in the Dixie College league composed of Tech, Georgia, Florida, Auburn and Oglethorpe. He is interested in looking over any young talent in this territory for future trials with the Cubs.

James A. Dunn, vice president of the Toronto club, in training here, was another arrival in the city. He is stopping at the Georgian Terrace with the Toronto club.

CRACKER PILOT SAYS HE'LL PLAY IF NEED ARISES

Toronto Game Postponed Until Today by Cold Weather.

By Jimmy Jones.

"I'm going to make every effort to be on the active playing list of the Atlanta ball club when the season starts and stay on it as much as possible from then on," David Irenus Barron declared yesterday in the Crackers clubhouse, while engaged with the somewhat tedious task of knotting his necktie without the aid of the clubhouse mirror.

The young skipper had just taken his practice round in the brisk air with the other players and was dressing for the street.

"What would I be out there getting in shape for if I didn't intend playing in a lot of ball games this year?" he asked.

MISCONSTRUED.

Barron was afraid that his recent statement that "it looks now as if I will have to be a bench manager," would be taken literally and that a reply is by way of assurance to friends who queried him on the interpretation that he would be practically out of action this summer.

While he has every intention of using the best men at each position, regardless of whether he is forced out of the lineup in some instances, Barron explained that he does not yet know the personnel of his team as at least four positions are still in doubt.

"I am hoping that it will be good enough to play on the team," he stated. And the restless redhead added that the last place he wanted to be was on the bench.

He pointed out that he had a ball club that as yet was largely untamed, that four positions still hung in the balance and that a lot of club development in the 10 exhibition games his men have yet to play. The Crackers have seen very little action against worthwhile opposition, not to mention the handicap of unfavorable weather.

Barron said that he did not want the Atlanta baseball public to get the idea that he was to be a bench manager.

"That all depends on what constitutes a bench manager. I'm going to play in a lot of ball games and when I'm not playing, I want to be ready to go in at any time to pinch hit and run the bases," he declared.

"I want to make that ball club worse than anything you can imagine; I want to play and that's why I tried out for first base. I know I can run things better when I'm out there with the boys and I'll play just about as much as any other playing manager in the league at that, I guess," he continued.

RIGHT-HANDER.

Strech is added to Barron's statement of fact that St. Rosenthal, Red Barnes, Roy Carlyle and Duck McKee, leading outfield possibilities, are all left-handed hitters. Barron and Johnny Cummins are the only right-handed hitting outfielders on the squad. It stands to reason that one of them or possibly both will be the corner of the infield, while a southpaw such as Jimmy Walkup, of Birmingham, is chinking.

Barron figures the Crackers situation as largely reactionary, just like that of any other club. No manager can tell what exigencies will arise until he has to meet them. He cites the example of the railroad while out of the field, even when he was merely one of the club's outfielders, are highly in favor of Barron being in the game after the season.

Barron probably will have to suspend himself or some other player from time to time to keep in the class demand of 12 "A" and 5 "B" men. A suspension lasts ten days and Barron hopes to get around as much of this as possible.

If the club lands Paul Gregory from the White Sox, which it has every hope of doing, it may be that Barron can carry three Class B pitchers without weakening his staff. Carriers, Wehbe and Gregory, although of "B" rank, have pitched enough Class A ball to be virtually classed as "A" pitchers. One Class B catcher and a Class B infielder would solve Barron's problems.

FIRST 30 DAYS.
Barron will be aided by the fact that for the first 30 days of the season he is privileged to carry 10 players, including seven "B" players. In that time he should find which are

VEENKER SEEN AS NEW COACH OF WISCONSIN

Badger Officials Do Not Deny That He Is the Man.

MADISON, Wis., March 22.—(P)—Reports that George Veenker, football coach at Iowa State, has been appointed head football coach at the University of Wisconsin were not denied by athletic authorities today.

Although official confirmation was lacking, it was stated on good authority that only formal approval of the appointment by the board of regents was awaited.

The regents may approve the selection of Veenker by telephone from their homes or may postpone the matter until a meeting of the executive committee Friday.

The new coach will succeed Glenn Thistlethwaite, who resigned December 29, 1931, effective June 1. Thistlethwaite's successor was expected here early next month to prepare for the spring practice drills, which start April 15.

Coach Harry Mehre, of the University of Georgia football team, and Chet Wynne, of Auburn, were among those considered for the position as head coach at Wisconsin.

MORE BASE STEALING.

Players in the American league will attempt to steal bases oftener this season, according to observations of Bill Killifer, manager of the St. Louis Browns. Therefore he is cautioning pitchers to be more on the alert when there is a man on the sacks.

THE SPORTLIGHT

By Grantland Rice

BASEBALL'S MOTHER GOOSE.
Babe, Babe, the Son of Swat,
Likes his music steaming hot;
But the only tune that he can play
Is over the fence—and far away.

And something, at a later date, might easily be done with:
"Carey, Carey, quite contrary—how will your Dodgers show?"

Hack Wilson batted above .500 in his first seven spring games. No matter which direction he may be traveling, there is nothing halfway about Hack. At least he doesn't oscillate.

Several coaches believe Gene Venzke, the Pottstown express, can run a mile in 4.06 at his best. If a mile can be run in 4.06 by human legs, Venzke is the best bet that ever came along. That is—if speed, stamina, courage, condition and ambition mean anything at all.

BUT—IF—

O, golf is such a silly game,
You dub a drive and miss a putt,
But you are really not to blame—
You would have had a birdie—but—

You surely could have won the match—
O, handily—a top—a whiff—
A look up—just a little catch—
You really would have won it—if—

WILFRED J. FUNK.

THE PENCIL IS BASEBALL'S MIGHTY MAGNET.

You certainly have to admire baseball. It's probably the neatest of all American inventions.

There is a sport that keeps its fans in more of a lather through the off-season than in the midst of the campaign. While it fights its battles with golf and basketball for the greatest number of participants, and engages in skirmishes with football and boxing for drawing power, still the national game has all other sports beaten in certain essentials.

In the first place, the pad-and-pencil fan is captivated by baseball. If there is one single feature of the game that supports the structure it is the possibility of concise figuring on the merits of rival teams and players. There are more different ways in which the excellence of a ball player can be established than in the case of any other athlete.

Aside from the vanished art of drop-kicking, football players with big reputations always have to admit the assistance of their speed and agility written down in a few brief figures. Golfers hand their cards on to posterity, but nobody can settle an argument over which is the best club played by any one of the leaders—the figures aren't handy for proof.

This isn't the case in baseball. You can prove Bob Grove is the best southpaw baseball has seen. Ruth's monopoly of home runs is not a matter of opinion. And even in the case of the more controversial pitcher, as for instance whether Mickey Cochrane is still a better backstop than Bill Dickey. The fans can stack and restack the averages and figures till they're tired.

Lions and Gladiators.

I wonder how they used to compile the averages for the gladiators or the lions in the coliseum? Most probably it was a matter of heated opinion. Much like whether Dempsey in his Toledo form would have had to pin

WYCOFF, GREEN IN MAT GAME, WINS ON FOUL

Decision Is Unpopular; 'Father' Lumpkin, Marshall in Draw.

By Ralph McGill.

Doug Wycoff, former idol of Georgia Tech fans, proved to be as good as his shamrock colored trunks in his wrestling debut at the Auditorium last night, but won a decision when Bill Middlekauff persisted in choking him. Roy (Father) Lumpkin and Floyd Marshall went to a one-hour draw in the semi-windup.

Wycoff, who has been at the mat game but a few months, showed a wholehearted willingness which left the match about devoid of wrestling. Both wrestlers were tremendously in earnest. The match was not a crowd-pleaser, as both boys lost their tempers early and went to it. Middlekauff won the first fall in little more than five minutes with a series of rights to the jaw, lefts to the solar plexus and a few flying tackles.

Wycoff won the second fall in about the same length of time. WYCOFF GETS VERDICT.

In the third fall Middlekauff choked Wycoff and Referee Lanford gave the decision to Wycoff. "I know I looked like a home-town decision," said Lanford, "but I had warned both men before the match started. There were a lot of complaints from the ringside about choking in the semi-windup. Marshall was an expert at choking if he was doing what the ringside fans claimed. Both Wycoff and Middlekauff agreed there would be no choking."

The fans objected to the decision as Middlekauff looked to be the better wrestler. He probably would have won had the match gone on. Henry Weber, matchmaker, brought Wycoff to Atlanta at the request of hundreds of football and wrestling fans, who wanted to see the former Jacket in action when they learned he had started wrestling.

TRYING HARD. "I don't know how looked," said Wycoff, "but I was in there trying to get that fellow with all I had. I guess I forgot the wrestling I'd learned."

The semi-windup was a wild affair and really saved the show. Lumpkin, who is very versatile and in great condition, was the more experienced. Marshall all he could handle. There was no stalling in the hour the two men were going.

There were a great many Tech football fans present. Al Loeb, the old Tech center, was there cheering both Lumpkin and Wycoff. He was giving the old war cry, "Harder and harder, boys."

Henry Weber announced another card for next Tuesday night.

Boxing Commission Approves Mat Dates.

The Atlanta boxing commission met Tuesday night to consider another application for a wrestling date next Tuesday night. The commission ruled that Henry Weber had asked for and received, before last January 30, the following dates: March 27, March 29, April 5, April 12, April 19, April 26 and May 3. The other application came at a date much later than January 30.

Feds Honored At Banquet Tuesday

Members of the Federal Employees' basketball team, which won the City league and the Class B city championships, were guests of the Federal Employees' Athletic Association at a banquet at Jerry's cafe on Broad street Tuesday night.

Van Owen, president of the union, was in charge of the meeting and together with S. A. Mitchell, chairman of the athletic committee; C. C. Mitchell and Hugh Allgood, manager of the team, were the principal speakers. Every member of the club and newspaper representatives also were called on for brief words.

Members of the team are Ed Bellamy, Jack Perkins, T. Dean, "Kitty" Katz, Charles Purnon, "Cotton" Bessell, H. Payne, Tom Fowler, Ralph Davis and R. G. Jenkins.

Cold Wind Stops Women Golf Stars

A strong cold wind cut short a golf match between Miss Bea Gottlieb, New York state champion; Miss Margaret Maddox, Georgia and Atlanta champion; and Mrs. H. B. Kinspatrick on the East Lake Country Club course Tuesday morning.

The players started out on the old course but after a few minutes returned to the clubhouse. Another effort will be made today or Thursday.

Miss Gottlieb is visiting in the city this week and has a match scheduled with Miss Maddox and Charlie Yates Jr. and Berrien Moore Jr.

Lott and Van Ryn Win in Doubles

NEW YORK, March 22.—(P)—Uncle Sam's tennis forces took a commanding lead in their indoor team match with France when George Lott Jr. and Johnny Van Ryn scored a four-set victory over the visiting pair, Jean Borotra and Antoine Gien. The scores were 15-13, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4.

What! No Beer, Wine for Athletes

LOS ANGELES, March 22.—(P)—Foreign athletes who come to Los Angeles to participate in the 1932 Olympic games opening July 30, must do without their beer and wine.

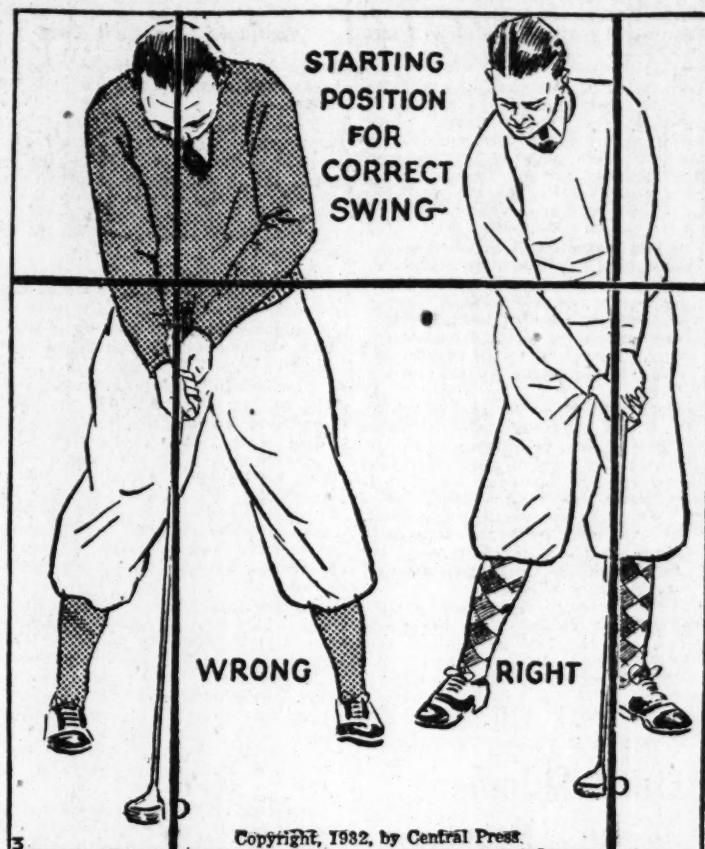

Amos W. W. Woodcock, prohibition administrator, now in Los Angeles on an inspection tour, officially announced the ban.

"The law is the law," he said. "Only congress could extend immunity and it would be interesting to determine whether congress could do so legally."

Woodcock will leave today for Washington, stopping at Denver.

GOLF FACTS

Not Theories

Copyright, 1932, by Central Press

BY ALEX J. MORRISON

Golf's Foremost Technician.

Has it ever occurred to you who struggle against the vagaries of golf that the game as it is taught is one of repression instead of expression?

Do you realize you are constantly kept on the defensive when playing? You are forever being told, "Don't do this or don't do that."

Instead of placing you in a position to use the proper muscles and thereby make a successful swing, your persecutors are simply nagging at you to suppress the use of the wrong set of muscles.

The first thing to get straight in your mind is the positions and movements that will afford you the proper muscular action in your swing.

The entire action of the correct swing can be divided into eight stages:

1—The starting position.
2—The initial move in the backswing.
3—The beginning of the wind-up.
4—Completing the wind-up.
5—Starting the downswing.
6—The moment of impact.
7—After impact.
8—The finish.

Doubtless you have seen Bobby Jones and other champions photographed at some stage of their swings in positions approximating those I will show here. These positions and movements are absolutely necessary to the successful execution of any type of shot. In fact, I have proved that the closer a player approximates them the greater and more lasting will be his success in golf.

However, no golfer to date has set out to make these positions and movements the foundation of his game because he has not known the reason for doing so. The reason, as I have already stated, is that they represent the proper muscular action and the application of the right principle in the swing.

In order to get a picture of the swing as a whole we must first study the positions and movements of the full swing. It's much easier to follow the full amount of action that takes place in the various parts of the body than it is to examine the shorter swings where the action is not so pronounced.

The accompanying illustration shows the correct starting position. The position of the body, arms, hands and the club that prepares the proper set of muscles for the action of the swing.

These same muscles should be in control of the club from the time the swing starts until well after the ball has been hit. And if the shot is to be successful, they must be in control when the clubhead lands on the ball. For that reason the starting position should resemble the hitting position.

Women Elect Golf Heads Today

Election of officers and selection of dates for a summer and autumn tournaments will feature the annual meeting of the Atlanta Woman's Golf Association at 10 o'clock this morning at the Atlanta Athletic Club.

Mrs. O. R. Keeler is president; Mrs. M. S. Mentzer, vice president; Mrs. W. D. Doak, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. J. C. Wright, chairman of the tournament committee.

According to present plans, the association will sponsor regularly monthly tournaments along with the annual city championship. A number of one day novelty events are likely to be added to the tourney schedule.

Several other matters of importance to every woman golfer in the city and others interested in the association will be taken up today.

Speer Again Loses; Body Slam Does It

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 22.—(P)—Milo Steinborn, of Germany, threw Tiny Roebuck, of Chicago, with a bear hug in 17 minutes 12 seconds in a match here tonight. Steinborn weighed 222 pounds, Roebuck 250.

Earl McCready, 230, Oklahoma, threw Billie Khamar, 252, Lithuania, in 27-37, with a body slapper and wristlock; Dick Shikat, 218, Philadelphia, threw Frank Sauer, 225, Georgia, in 11-21, with a body slam; George Kotsanos, 200, California, threw Jack Burke, 205, Boston, in 14-40, with an airplane twist; Norman Hickman, 220, Tennessee, threw Frederic Caroli, 200, Italy, in 11-28, with a flying tackle; the Masked Marvel, 227, threw Benny Ginsberg, 210, Chicago, in 7-56, with a crotch hold and body slam.

Callahan Hits Comeback Trail

HOLLYWOOD, March 22.—(P)—Another former boxing champion is hitting the comeback trail. Mushy Callahan, former junior welterweight champion, will enter the ring against Ralph Choate, New Orleans, Chinese welterweight, here the night of April 1.

Mushy, until recently, was in the haberdashery business in Los Angeles. He suffered business reverses and decided to resume boxing as a writer, having added a few pounds.

MEDALS AWAIT WINNERS; COACH TO DINE SQUAD

Contests in All Departments of Grid Game Planned.

By Ralph McGill.

Coach W. A. Alexander announced yesterday the beginning of competition in the Georgia Tech spring football practice which will conclude with a field day which will determine the men who have developed most in their respective lines.

Medals will be awarded the winners and the squad will be the personal guests of Coach Alexander at a dinner at the conclusion of the spring drills.

There will be a punting contest to determine the best punter. The passers will also get their chance to throw at pass catchers.

ONE OF BEST EVENTS. There will be a tackling contest with dummy and live objectives. This is expected to be one of the best events of the meet.

Another interesting feature will be the tests to determine which set of guards and tackles can come out in interference and block best.

Receiving passes and covering of punts will conclude the lists of competitive events on the unique spring program.

Coach Alexander is contriving to make his spring drills play, which is the object of all sports. The Tech spring drills are not tedious drudgery. These competitions will make them unusually attractive to the boys engaged in them.

The medals, suitably inscribed, were ordered yesterday and will arrive in time for the actual competition which is about two weeks away. The boys will, of course, begin work on them during the regular practices. No scrimmage was held Tuesday.

SPORTLIGHT MOVIES. In addition to the spring practice competition the Jackets have prepared a schedule of events which will be run off in the movies to be taken of the team early next month by Grantland Rice's "Sportlight" company. The new rules and certain plays, such as the method used in attempting to block punts, handling punts and passes and other football plays will be run before the camera.

The teams will be clad in different colored jerseys and the players especially involved in the plays will be marked so they may be easily identified.

These tests will be made about April 4. The University of Georgia players will also take part in another series.

University Beats Boys' High, 12-1

University school squared the count with Boys' High in their spring practice games with a 12-1 victory Tuesday afternoon at Piedmont park. Boys' High defeated the Bluebirds last week in the first of a series of practice games.

The pitching of Fowler and Stillwell was the outstanding feature for the Bluebirds, while the infield play of Boys' High was good.

Coach Doyal used three pitchers. Clark, Seidenberg and Bishop, but failed to check University bats when men were in scoring positions.

Lightner's Lectures On Contract Bridge Are Anticipated

Atlanta bridge players are anticipating the contract bridge lectures to be given by Theodore A. Lightner in this city March 29 and 30 on the sixth floor of Davidson-Paxon Company at 3 o'clock each afternoon under the auspices of the Young Matrons' Circle for Tallulah Falls school. In commenting upon the approaching Lightner lectures Mrs. Humphrey Wagar, general chairman for the lectures and one of the four champions in the recent citywide bridge tournament, made the following statement:

"I am intensely interested in the Lightner lectures and particularly want to hear Mr. Lightner because he is rated by Sheppard Barclay as being one of the ten greatest bridge players in the world, ranking seventh in the list of bridge experts published recently in the magazine Time and the Saturday Evening Post. He is also a member of the committee on hands for the forthcoming world bridge tournament," said Mrs. Wagar.

Miss Hodnett Feted At Pre-Nuptial Parties.

Miss Margaret Hodnett, whose marriage to Dr. James George McDaniel will be a social event of April 2, continues to be honored at a number of pre-nuptial parties. Mrs. J. B. Pendergraft will honor her niece at tea Monday afternoon, March 28, at her home on Oakdale road.

Tuesday afternoon, March 29, Miss Hodnett will be central figure at a luncheon at which Misses Jane Small and Lillian Funkhouser will be hostesses at the home of the former on Myrtle street.

In the evening of the same day Miss Hodnett and Dr. McDaniel will be the central figures at the informal bridge-supper at which Miss Teresa Wade Atkinson will be hostess at her home on Peachtree street.

This lovely bride-elect will be the central figure Wednesday afternoon, March 30, at the tea at which Mrs. Herbert Alden will entertain at her home on Roswell road. Following the wedding rehearsal Friday evening, April 1, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Beckham will entertain at a buffet supper at their home on Inman circle, honoring their niece and Dr. McDaniel.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Currie entertained at a buffet-supper followed by bridge last evening in honor of Miss Hodnett and Dr. McDaniel. A color motif of pink was carried out in the table appointments and floral decorations. The guests included members of the wedding party.

Mrs. McGee Hostess.

Mrs. M. McGee entertained Saturday at dinner at her home on Moreland avenue, N. E., for her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. McGee, who celebrated their twentieth wedding anniversary.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. C. O. McGee, Clancy McGee Jr., Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wood, Misses Mattie, Annie and Hattie Mitchell, of J. A. Worth; Mrs. McGee and Miss Annie Lee McGee.

Miss Frederick Is Honored At Prenuptial Party Series

Miss Nancy Frederick, whose marriage to Robert Pegrum IV will be an important event of April 13, is being complimented at a series of prenuptial parties. Mrs. D. F. Rogers and Miss Nance Williams will entertain at a bridge party Saturday at 1:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Rogers on Ivy road. Miss Frederick is Mrs. Rogers' niece and the guests will include a group of friends of the honor guest. Invited for bridge are Misses Mamie Raine, Louise Moore, Anne Ridley, Catherine Flagler, Harriett Wynne, Helen Smith, Elizabeth Thompson, Mesdames Nisbet, Mary, Richard A. Cannon, Cody Laird Jr., and Ralph Bullard. Invited for tea at 5 o'clock are Misses Jane King, Margaret Underwood, Mesdames Morris Brandon Jr. and Nathan Brandon, and Mr. and Mrs. Claude M. Frederick, parents of the honor guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Edwards will entertain at a buffet supper Tuesday evening, April 5, at their home on Piedmont avenue, honoring Miss Frederick and Mr. Pegrum. The guests will include the following members of the families: Dr. and Mrs. Edgar Paulin, Mr. and Mrs. Claude M. Frederick, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pegrum, Miss Caroline Paulin and her escort.

Mrs. Cody Laird Jr. will be hostess at luncheon April 1 in honor of Miss Frederick, the guests to include a limited number of friends. Saturday evening, April 9, Dan Conklin and Barnham McGee will be hosts at a party at the Piedmont Driving Club dinner-dance honoring this couple.

Mrs. Richard A. Cannon entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Piedmont Driving Club, honoring Miss Frederick. Covers were placed for Misses Frederick, Catherine Flagler, Louise Moore, Elizabeth Thompson, Mamie Raine, Harriett Wynne, Mesdames Cody Laird Jr., Rhyne Cannon, of Charlotte, N. C., the guest of the hostess, Malon Courts, Ralph Bullard and Nisbet Mary. Numbers of other parties are being planned and will be announced later.

Young Matrons' Committees For Tallulah Meet This Week

Mrs. H. W. Beers, chairman of equipment for the Young Matrons' Circle of Tallulah Falls school, will entertain members of her committee at tea today at her home in Druid Hills following a meeting of the group. Members of the equipment committee include Mesdames William Candler, Charles Lorrans, E. B. Beaudry, Davis B. Thornton, Frank Berry, P. D. Yates, William McDougall, John Robinson, E. M. The audience is expected to be the largest assembled in the Atlanta auditorium since the grand opera season. It will close the first season of the All-Star Concert series.

Miss Jane King Is Hostess at Barbecue.

Miss Jane King entertained at a barbecue last evening at Tuckaushun, the country home of her mother, Mrs. George King, on Johnson Ferry road, in honor of Miss Pat Nash, of Wisconsin, the guest of Miss King's sister, Miss Judy King. Mrs. C. Spurgeon King assisted her daughter in entertaining.

The guests included Miss Nash, Miss Judy King, Miss Camilla Holland, Charles Jones, Charles Rogers, Lowndes, Julian Kelly, Tom Holland, Nathan Ayers, George Francis Willis, Scott Ritter and Joe Norton.

Mr. and Mrs. Kline Celebrate Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Kline entertained 12 guests at dinner last evening at Bellemeade, their home on Peachtree Battle avenue in Haynes Manor, the occasion marking the twenty-first anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Kline. They were married in Allentown, Pa., and moved to Atlanta several years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Kline have formed a wide circle of friends here and occupy an important place in the social and civic life of the community.

The house was decorated with Easter lilies and snapdragons placed in vases on the mantles and tables. The exquisitely appointed table in the dining room had for its centerpiece a silver and crystal container holding white flowers, sweet peas, candy tuff and snapdragons forming the decorative motif. White cards upon which were engraved in silver the initials of the hostess, marked the guests' places.

Mrs. Friendly is among the most popular of the spring visitors and will be feted at a number of parties during her visit.

Field Day To Be Held At G.S.W.C. March 23.

VALDOSTA, Ga., March 22.—Field day will be featured at Georgia State Woman's College Wednesday, March 23.

Miss Virginia Clark, of Tampa, Fla., was elected Student Government Association president for the year 1932-1933. She has been an outstanding student during her three years at college and was president of the sophomore class of 1930-1931. She is active in Y. W. C. A. work and is vice president and program chairman and was elected the most intellectual in the "Who's Who" contest this year because of her exceptional scholastic record. Miss Clark takes office May 1.

Officers of the Y. W. C. A. elected were Miss Emily Jennings, Dawson, re-elected president; Miss Margaret Kennedy, of Dawson, vice president; Miss Marie Gaskins, of Nashville, secretary; and Miss Carolyn Bullard, of Nashville, treasurer. Miss Emily Jennings announced to the Y. C. A. a paper published by the Y. W. C. A. of the various colleges in Georgia. Several years ago, Miss Emily Jennings, of Rome, editor, and Miss Swain has named her staff as follows: Editorial editor, Miss Virginia Clark, of Tampa; art editor, Miss Louise McMichael, of Quitman; feature editor, Miss Mildred Taylor, of Rome; correspondent, Miss Lillian Sumner, of Poulton; circulation manager, Miss Mildred Morris, of Brinson; proof readers, Misses Emily Jennings, of Dawson, and Nancy Rowland, of Wrightsville; printers, Misses Louise Heath, of Quitman, and Joan Talbert, of Colquitt.

Argonian and Sororian Literary societies met Saturday in the play production room. Members of the play production class presented "The Trysting Place," by Booth Tarkington. The cast included Misses Florence Towell, of Griffin; Emily Burney, of Boston; Emily Jennings, of Dawson; Polly Walker, of Patten; Carolyn Bradfield, of Folkston, and Pauline Foghee, of Valdosta.

Glee Club members gave a program of music Wednesday from radio station WQXX at Phenixville. The program consisted of the G. S. W. C. songs, "The Lass With the Delicate Air," a solo by Miss Margaret Lindsey; a group of piano numbers, "Rigadon," "Machowells," "Liebestraum," "Lull," and "Intermezzo in Octaves," "Lechetsky," by Miss Margaret Zippel; "Old Mother Goose," from the "Red Mill," Herbert, and "Amazilia," by the "Club," a vocal solo by Miss Ruth Webb, of Tifton, were featured.

At the Rose theater in Thomaston Wednesday a group from the Glee Club repeated a part of the program given last Saturday in Valdosta. The program consisted of groups of songs given by the club and a number of solos including: Helje Katt, of Valdosta; "The Birthday," by Woodward, and "Trees," vocal solos by Miss Margaret Lindsey, of Blakely; "The Poet Vendor," a vocal solo by Miss Ruth Webb, of Tifton; "The Swan Song," song by Miss Mary Elaine Flanagan, of Waycross.

Guest speaker of the International Relations Club was Major Dillard B. Jassier, who spoke on present conditions in the Sino-Japanese conflict at the meeting of the International Relations Club.

RICH'S

NOW PRESENTS

the new Queen Quality shoes

Attractively Priced
AT $8.50 to $6.00

Surely the dignity of our years will allow us to reminisce a bit on this occasion—and thereby throw a few bouquets our own way.

Twenty-three years ago we acquired the Queen Quality agency. At that time this department was doing the comparatively small business of $30,000 a year. In those days Queen Quality shoes sold for $2.50 and $3.00 and were the best shoes you could buy at any price (if you don't remember, ask your mother). With these wonderful shoes as our foundation we are now the largest retailers of Women's Shoes in the entire south.

So today we are proud to introduce to you the new Queen Quality footwear, styled by the country's leading designers—maintaining the traditional standard of excellence that made Queen Quality the cornerstone of our success, with a new conception of perfect fit and authentic style.

Dr. and Mrs. Read Will Be Honored At Assembly Dance

Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Read, who recently returned from their wedding journey, will be honored in a party at the assembly dance this evening at the Georgian Terrace hotel. Invited to meet the honor guests are Misses Mary Crenshaw, Elizabeth Irwin, Sara Carter and Dr. Joseph Massey, Ralph Holland and Vice Consul Carter Whitaker, of China. Mrs. Read was formerly Miss Mary Elizabeth Warren, and her marriage was a recent interesting event.

A special feature of the assembly dance this evening will be the cabaret at 10:30 o'clock, which will be in charge of Senia Solomonoff, who will introduce Marjorie Bennett, Ellen Harrington, Marion Reinhardt, Natalie Hankin, Jane Burks, Mary Anne Linnane, Corinne Estelle, Lida Clarke, Camille Litton and Nicky Zachary. A college orchestra will play for the regular dancing from 9:30 until 12:30 o'clock.

College Set Arrives At Sea Island Beach

SEA ISLAND BEACH, Ga., March 22.—College boys and girls on spring vacation from schools in the east are beginning to flock to Sea Island to join their parents for the holiday season and the social and sports activities at Sea Island are centering around the younger contingent. Misses Mary Margaret Lewis, of Groesbe Pointe, Mich., who is a student at House in the Pines, Norton, Conn., has joined her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene W. Lewis, at Hamilton plantation for the Easter holidays. She was accompanied by her roommate, Faith Fleming, of Brockton, Mass. Roger Chilton and Charles Williams, of Chestnut Hill, who are on vacation from Deerfield Academy, arrived Sunday to be with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ames Williams. James Stanton and Helen Stanton, of Wayne, Ill., who are attending Kent school, are with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stanton. Others who have arrived for the holidays are Miss Caroline Lindsay, of Rochester, a student at Farmington; Miss Katherine Stebbins, of Rochester; and Henry Mitchell 11, of Boston, who is on vacation from Lawrenceville school.

Mrs. Eugene Lewis entertained a score of guests Saturday evening at the Glee House on their plantation, which is a center of gaiety for the younger generation. On Monday evening the Lewises were hosts to a large party at an oyster roast on Ledbetter island, a picturesque part of their plantation.

One of the interesting holiday events will be the spring sports fiesta to be held Thursday, March 24, at Sea Island Beach, which will engage all the facilities of the island. Arrangements are being made for all of the 200 guests who are now vacationing at Sea Island to participate in their favorite sports—golf, tennis, archery, badminton, bowling-on-the-green, putting, quoits, bicycling, trap and skeet shooting, croquet, ping pong, and Scott boat racing and other activities. Trophies will be awarded in the various events.

Three cruises on Saturday, Sunday and Tuesday, aboard the Zapala to Cabin Bluff, the rustic lodge on the Sea Island shooting preserve, have brought together more than 100 guests in congenial parties. The picturesque inland route past Jekyll and Cumberland islands was followed. After a few hours at the lodge the parties returned by the ocean course. Tea was served aboard the Zapala late in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bona Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Martin and Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Williams, of Atlanta, were weekend guests at the Sea Island Yacht Club. The party of Atlantians were on a cruise aboard the Evelyn A. beautiful cruiser of the Bona Allen.

Howard Candler Jr. and John Candler are spending several days at the Candler home on Cumberland island.

Students' Recital

Literary Digest Quotes Opinion Of Miss Walker on Book Selection

In discussing "Right and Wrong Books for the Sick" last week's issue of The Literary Digest quotes at length from the opinion of a cultured Atlantian, Miss Catherine Poyas Walker, Librarian of the Fourth Corps Area, U. S. army, as expressed in the American Journal of Public Health, published in Boston. Miss Walker, who is eminently capable of discussing all phases of books by reason of her voracious habit of wide reading and her valuable training and experience as a librarian, suggests the compilation of a book on "psychological symptomatology," which in every-day parlance means the mental symptoms of various diseases, to aid the hospital librarian in book selection.

"Interest," the Digest says, "is the first requisite in all curative reading, according to Miss Walker. Indeed, unless a book creates interest, it is greatly to be questioned whether it will have therapeutic qualities."

Even the lay reader must realize that different maladies require different books, just as they demand different remedies. And further, that books filled with murder, suicide, morbid philosophy, family squabbles, and the general futurity of living are not the kind likely to help a sick person back to health.

As a hospital librarian, Miss Walker presents the following illuminating discussion of the subject, as quoted in the Digest.

Blanket Rules.
"A book which may be helpful, or at least harmless, in one ward, may be very harmful in another."

"There are obvious blanket rules for book selection in various hospitals; in the penitentiary, books of crime, mystery, crime, and detective stories are usually banned; in mental hospitals, the mere mention of the word 'cray,' however appropriate, is harmless in itself, may have an unfortunate effect; tubercular patients should have cheerful books; and so forth. Concerning the books that should be in general, those dwelling upon and describing disease, ill or deformed characters, must be avoided; to some patients the subject of living is of great matter, and even humorous accounts of attempts to secure money may not seem amusing to them."

"One man's humor is another man's grief, and the same caution applies to the 'cheerful' books—there is usually nothing more annoying to patients than an enforcedly and persistently cheerful book or person. The old-fashioned novel demanded by some readers will not be tolerated by others. On the other hand, the hospital might find its curative purpose rather defeated if the librarian gave its patients certain modern novels, the trend of which would seem to be the utter futility of living."

"A book with a persistent dwelling on sex is not usually conducive to good health. Introductory books, those dealing with family squabbles, marital difficulties, suicides, gruesome and horrible details, problems of various sorts, and religion are dangerous topics to present to some readers, who may be shut up in one small room for an indefinite period. For instance, one very ill patient to whom a kind-hearted friend gave a copy of 'Dracula,' suffered from increased temperature and sleeplessness after reading it."

Care in Selection.
"The casual reading of a book is not sufficient to determine its fitness

HEARING SHOWS BASIS OF UTILITY VALUATION

Arkansas Concern's Figure Represents 'Appreciation' of Nearly 7 Million.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—(AP)—Charles R. Taylor, federal trade commission examiner, testified today to the commission that the recorded value of assets acquired by the Arkansas Power & Light Co. in organizing in 1926 represented an "appreciation" of nearly $7,000,000.

The examiner did not describe the applications as a "write-up," as testified to frequently in examination of other utility financing.

He said the recorded value of assets was "exclusive of tangible values, and considering these intangibles," the appreciation would amount to $3,140,364.

Harvey C. Couch, member of the board of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, was said by Taylor to be president and chairman of the board of the Arkansas company.

At the outset, Taylor gave detailed testimony incident to the organization and consolidation of the company's properties.

This was the opening of the commission's investigation of the Arkansas company under a senate resolution ordering an inquiry into the finances of utility companies.

CLARENCE M. BERMAN DIES AT U. S. HOSPITAL

Clarence M. Berman, 52, of 1236 Virginia avenue, N. E., died Tuesday morning at the United States veterans' hospital No. 48. The body was carried Tuesday night to Columbia, S. C., for funeral services and interment.

Mr. Berman was the proprietor of the Berman-Williams shows, and was a veteran of the Spanish-American War. He served in Company K, First South Carolina regiment in Cuba. He was an active member of the Elks.

Surviving are one sister, Mrs. Sol Fleischmann, of Columbia, and three brothers, C. A. and J. E. Berman, of Atlanta, and S. I. Berman, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

POSTOFFICE CLERK CONVICTED BY JURY

I. W. McLeroy, of Griffin, Tuesday was convicted in federal district court of a charge of making false entries on his postoffice account in connection with money orders. Sentence will be imposed Friday by Judge E. Marvin Underwood.

A verdict of not guilty was directed by Judge Underwood in the case of John Robert Smith, negro janitor at postoffice substation B, when it was shown that Smith charged with taking stamps, picked up the stamps while cleaning in the lobby of the station.

CLEAN OUT YOUR BILE TUBES WITH CALOTABS

The Nauseless Calomel Tablet That Does the Work Without the Slightest Unpleasantness or Danger.

You have always thought of calomel as the best and surest medicine in the world, but too nauseating for you to take. That was the old-style calomel. Now science has robbed calomel of its unpleasant and dangerous qualities, without detracting in the slightest from its liver-cleansing and system-purifying effects. The next time you are bilious or constipated take Calotabs. One tablet at bedtime, with a glass of water—that's all. No taste, no griping, no nausea. You wake up in the morning feeling fine, your liver clean, your system purified, and with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you please, no danger.

Beware of imitations! Genuine Calotabs are sold only in "checker-board" (black and white) packages bearing the copyrighted trade-mark "Calotabs." The large, family size sells for thirty-five cents; vest-pocket size, ten cents. All dealers are authorized to refund the price if you are not delighted with Calotabs.—(adv.)

It's Probably Athlete's Foot

B. L. writes: "What makes the skin crack and peel off between my toes? It itches terribly."

REPLY

Probably ringworm, or, as it is more commonly called, Athlete's Foot. Get after it at once with a powerful anti-septic, like Emerald Oil which usually banishes every symptom in two weeks at most. Rub your feet with the oil night and morning. (Emerald Oil isn't greasy and does not stain.) Boil your hose and bed linen, and air your shoes in the sun, to prevent reinfection.

You can get Moore's Emerald Oil at any good drug store, such as Jacobs' Pharmacy Company. Money back if one bottle doesn't end the trouble.—(adv.)

THIS YEAR TO BRING LAST SUN ECLIPSE IN U. S. 'TIL 1979

DELAWARE, Ohio, March 22.—(AP)—The total eclipse of the sun August 31, which will be the last one visible in the United States until 1979, will be observed by a joint expedition from the Perkins observatory of Ohio Wesleyan University and the Warner and Swasey observatory of the Case School of Applied Science, it was announced today.

The observation will be made from a point near Douglas hill in the region of Lake Sebago, Maine. J. J. Nassau, director of the Warner and Swasey observatory, will have charge of the Case school staff and the Ohio Wesleyan study will be directed by Harlan T. Stetson, director of the Perkins observatory.

The August eclipse, during which the moon will shadow the sun completely, will last less than 60 seconds. Partial phases, however, will last for about two hours, starting at 2:30, eastern standard time.

ARMY OF UNEMPLOYED IS REDUCED IN GEORGIA

Atlanta and Georgia participated during the month of February in the general slight improvement in the employment situation throughout the United States, according to a bulletin issued Tuesday by Otto F. Bading, Georgia state director of employment.

An additional 250 men were placed at work in the building trades lines in Atlanta during the month, but there still remained a surplus of labor, the report showed.

Plants in Atlanta, Albany, Athens, Augusta, Columbus, Griffin, Macon, Rome, Savannah, Waycross for the most part continued to operate on a restricted time basis and with curtailed forces, but employment generally was better.

Skilled and unskilled labor and clerical help constituted the bulk of the unemployed as heretofore, but some improvement was shown in virtually all lines. Bading cited the recent drive to aid unemployed as one of the reasons for the improvement, saying many persons had been given permanent jobs while others received temporary aid.

congressman that at least ten persons had been killed in the section from Kingston to Oak Grove and Macedonia, and that most of the 50 injured were in "dire circumstances." Editor Fleetwood, appealed for Red Cross aid and said the need for assistance to the stricken was "urgent and imperative."

Dipping from the vicinity of Cartersville toward the north, the storm struck, apparently with unabated fury, in Murray and Whitfield counties. Cartersville itself escaped serious damage.

In Murray and Whitfield counties five were killed.

In Rabun county numerous houses were blown down and Mrs. Jim Stancil killed. A 4-year-old child, whose name was not learned here, was killed in northwestern Cherokee county.

Man Blown into Tree Top.

In the vicinity of Dalton, one man, unidentified, was blown into a tree top and a piece of wood driven through one of his arms by the storm. He was not expected to live.

Telephone and telegraph poles were blown over and communication, both by highway and by wire with the stricken communities was cut off.

The northeast Georgia storm followed in a general way the Athens-Elberton highway, although Elberton reported only a high wind. Many of the 14 dead in the Peola community were killed in the Peola community, in Madison county.

Harrowing tales of experiences in the storm were told by survivors. In northwest Georgia, near Cassville, a mother leapt with her daughter from a bed a moment before a heavy chimney fell, twisting the bed and carrying it through the floor.

At another point in this community, a father was found dead, with his 3-year-old baby in his arms. The baby was unhurt. One man near Avondale, not far from Cartersville, held to a bed post, driven through the floor by the storm, to keep from being blown outdoors. Under him he held his wife and daughter. They were unhurt.

NINE KNOWN DEAD

IN BARTOW SECTION

BY WILSON D. KEY, Staff Correspondent.

Officials of Bartow county Tuesday began the difficult task of taking toll of the dead and injured in human reckoning, and a survey of the vast damage done to live stock and property by the tornado which Monday night swept through half a dozen outlying settlements.

As the result of first official listing, 10 persons were known to be dead in Bartow county, while approximately 50 others persons were injured, many seriously. As the survey proceeded, fear was expressed that the total number of fatalities would be increased as the more remote sections of wooded, mountainous territory was searched.

Early Tuesday afternoon the known dead were listed as follows in Cartersville:

Claude Carroll, Pine Log settlement.

Gus Cannon, Cassville.

Edgar Summerside, 3 years old, of Senia.

Noah Dover, Cassville.

Lorone Madden, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds Madden, of the Oak Grove-Macedonia Church settlement.

Mrs. B. Hudson Temple and infant daughter, of Oak Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Edwards, Oak Grove.

Alfred Hightower, Salacoa district.

Toll of Injuries.

The known injured, most of whom were taken to hospitals in Cartersville and Rome, were as follows, by settlements:

Pine Log—Albert Taylor, serious; Mrs. Claude Carroll; Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Newhouse and three young children.

Cassville—Mrs. Noah Dover, Mrs. Gus Cannon and five young children; David Elrod and May Stacey, of Cherokee county, visitor at the Dovers' farmhouse.

Mount Pisgah—R. L. Bishop, 77, serious; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carter, Mrs. Sallie Crisp, serious.

Senia District—Mrs. Imo Phillips, Mamie Phillips, 15; Annie Mae Phillips, 12; John C. Ross, visitor at the Phillips' home.

Kingston—George Wade, probably serious.

Oak Grove-Macedonia church (two settlements lying close together): Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds Madden, Marvin Madden, Charles Madden, Mary Ruth Madden, Mabel Madden and Herman Madden—children between 2 and 16 years of age; Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Worthington and three children; Mr. and Mrs. John Pilgrim and two children; Mr. and Mrs. John Temple and three children; R. Hudson Temple and his twins, Eugene and Louise Temple, 6; Mrs. Birdie Evans; J. L. Dover and 6-year-old son; Mrs. L. A. Dover.

No Negroes Reported.

Although rescue teams and searchers were out over the entire county at daybreak Tuesday, a peculiarity of the storm was noted in the absence of negro victims among either the dead or injured. Those in charge of relief work expressed the belief that many negro farmers and others living in the piney woods sections of the hinterland probably were killed or injured, but inquiry failed to produce any evidence of negro casualties.

When the first calls reached Cartersville for assistance, every available ambulance and a score or more of young men in automobiles ventured into the stricken foothill areas, cutting their way through huge cedar and pine trees which blocked the roads and negotiating perilous roads, made slippery by the deluge, to reach the injured and dying.

The storm apparently broke over the Bartow area shortly after 8 o'clock Monday night. Ben Mills, chief of the Cartersville fire department, said he was in front of the fire department headquarters when his attention was attracted to a distant rumbling which sounded to him as if a number of railway trains were roaring in toward the city. He told members of the department that "a big storm is blowing somewhere," and later met P. D. Pedart, who lives about two miles from Cassville. Pedart told Mills he was standing on his porch, attracted by the roar of the wind, when suddenly in the distance he saw a "big ball of fire, with a large black center." This "ball," he said, "was traveling at a rapid speed on the distant horizon and he could distinctly hear the crash of timber that was swept before it."

Tragic Scene.

At the home of Gus Cannon, about three miles from the outskirts of the Cassville district, a pathetic sight greeted the eyes of rescuers. The Cannon family, consisting of the mother and father and five small children, were found crowded into the office formed by a large tree which had been uprooted in their front yard. The father was dead. In his arms, crying fretfully, was the 3-year-old son, the Cannon, William, with only a few scratches. The dead man's arms clung tightly to the child.

Scenes in Athens and Comer Areas Where Tornado Took Heavy Toll of Lives

Red Cross To Assist Refugees in Georgia

WASHINGTON, March 22.—At the instigation of Senator Walter F. George, of Georgia, officials of the national headquarters of the Red Cross today dispatched a representative to Cartersville, Ga., for the purpose of assisting in the relief work there following the tornado which swept over a section of the state yesterday. Another representative may be sent to the state tomorrow, the Georgia senator was informed.

The Red Cross representative sent to the state today is Stone Crane, attached to national headquarters here.

learned. Had they remained in their little frame house, they would have escaped all injury, for although the dwelling was almost demolished, its small rooms were still standing when day broke over the scene. The parents, with their little brood, evidently had become frightened and had rushed out into the storm in blind panic.

J. R. Whitaker, Red Cross director at Cartersville, immediately notified national headquarters in Washington, requesting that no national relief steps be undertaken until later word, based upon a more systematic survey, was telegraphed.

M. L. Fleetwood, editor of the Cartersville Tribune-News; M. C. Martin, Cartersville insurance man; City Manager John W. Dent, County Commissioner A. V. Noel, and Chief Mills, summoned Dr. Tanner Lowry and improvised a hospital at the physician's home in Cartersville, where more than a score of the injured were admitted, with many others receiving first aid and being dismissed before their identity could be learned.

The seven districts represented in the casualty list completely covers the more populous of the outlying districts visited by the storm. Various sheets of corrugated iron and cedar and hanging from pine and cedar and oak trees, squeaking dismally in a sort of macabre decoration for the wild scenes of desolation.

As work to relieve the suffering went on several firms and organizations contributed clothing and supplies to the stricken victims. The Cartersville Mills gave a quantity of underwear, while A. R. McDaniel donated hosiery, suits, dresses and clothing for children.

Schier's supplied a number of nightshirts for injured men, and the Rome chapter of the Salvation Army contributed a batch of clothing. De Lancey's, another Cartersville concern, gave several pairs of shoes to the sufferers and Mrs. Radebaugh contributed clothing for the three-week-old baby found in its dead father's arms.

NO INJURIES REPORTED IN STORM AT ELBERTON

ELBERTON, Ga., March 22.—(P)—A rain and windstorm struck this vicinity last night and early today, wrecking a number of chimneys and barns. No one was injured in this vicinity, so far as could be learned.

TWO COMMUNITIES HIT: FIVE PERSONS ARE KILLED

DALTON, Ga., March 22.—(P)—Storms struck two northwest Georgia communities near here last night, killing five persons, injuring a number of others and wrecking a group of houses and barns.

The dead were in the Little Murray settlement, just across the Conasauga river in Murray county, and in the Beverdale community of Whitfield county.

In these two communities the dead were: George W. Autrey, Marian Autrey, Lynch Lauderdale, Mrs. Lynch Lauderdale and Miss Maggie Sampson.

Conway Sampson was in a hospital here perhaps fatally injured. The storm cut a path a quarter of a mile wide along the county line between Whitfield and Murray counties. Houses, churches and barns in its path were destroyed.

Amidst the wreckage of the two settlements, the bodies of the dead were found. Among the known dead are George Autrey and grandchild, Maggie Sampson, Mr. and Mrs. Lauderdale.

Six are in a serious condition in a local hospital.

Details of the storm are lacking.

FOUR PERSONS KILLED BY TORNADO AT MURRAY

MURRAY, Ga., March 22.—(P)—Four were killed and several injured when a tornado struck here last night. Among the known dead are George Autrey and grandchild, Maggie Sampson, Mr. and Mrs. Lauderdale.

Six are in a serious condition in a local hospital.

Details of the storm are lacking.

Death and Despair Ride In Wake of Athens Tornado

ATHENS, Ga., March 22.—While most of Athens sat up in bed early this morning and listened to what was heard as the storm passed, a few of a train and to others like the low, sustained rumble of thunder, scores of other residents were being struck by the storm. The Cartersville Mills gave a quantity of underwear, while A. R. McDaniel donated hosiery, suits, dresses and clothing for children.

Schier's supplied a number of nightshirts for injured men, and the Rome chapter of the Salvation Army contributed a batch of clothing. De Lancey's, another Cartersville concern, gave several pairs of shoes to the sufferers and Mrs. Radebaugh contributed clothing for the three-week-old baby found in its dead father's arms.

Home Demolished.

The home of Walter Little, tenant on the farm of Mrs. George Hulme, between the Winterville and Hull highways, was completely demolished, only the stone foundations being left standing. Mrs. Little was killed and her body was found by her husband and A. G. Wright, head tenant farmer for Mrs. Hulme, about 25 yards from the site of the house.

Searchers found a kerosene "parlor lamp" that had been blown 75 yards from the house and was standing upright and unbroken.

A few yards from the house foundations, a man's bloody shoe was lying, and beside it lay a white, shaggy shepherd puppy, his white nose flecked with blood but otherwise uninjured. Efforts to call the puppy away from the bloodstained shoe resulted in growls and a display of white fangs.

Pathway of Storm.

The storm moved its way across Millidge avenue and parallel to Baxter street down to the old reservoir, a block from Lumpkin street. Then the twister lifted, dipped one on Oconee street across the river to rip and twist several big trees, and continued on its way, making its next appearance at the farm of Mrs. Hulme.

The storm cut a narrow strip through part of Athens, a strip a little over a block wide. The home of C. R. Couch, on Rock Spring street, between Baxter street and Springdale, was the first demolished. It was completely destroyed.

due to the roads and highways being obstructed by debris. Practically all buildings in the storm path were demolished.

pletely destroyed and its furnishings scattered over a wide area.

The main path of the twister then dismantled a group of large oaks between the homes of Mrs. J. Y. Carver and Professor W. H. Boocock, directly across Millidge from the home of Dr. Reid. It proceeded down the block enclosed by Baxter and Peachy streets, lifting the top of practically every house in the block, uprooting trees and blowing away garages and outhouses.

Tragic Searches.

The break of dawn within the stricken area found members of the families looking about for furniture, clothing and other belongings which had been strewn in the storm's path. At one home an elderly man and his wife, both apparently worn to almost complete exhaustion, were picking up pieces of chairs and bedclothing in their yard and near the house.

Paul Thompson, 101 Millidge heights, whose home was damaged by the storm, told of the narrow escape from death his baby experienced.

Mr. Thompson said when the storm reached its peak he went to the baby's bed and lifted it from the covers. An instant later a huge pile of bricks and mortar toppled into the crib.

P. G. Birchmore, Athens traveling salesman, told of his experience observing the havoc wrought by the Tornado near Comer.

Birchmore's Account.

"In a 400-yard swath cut through the heart of the residential section, houses, trees, telephone poles, household goods and clothing were strewn in a straight line, like chaff shot from a threshing machine," Mr. Birchmore said.

"All night long, following the worst of the storm, that was between 1:30 and 2 o'clock, my mother's home, the site of the telephone exchange, was filled with inquired folks, pleading for aid."

Athens could not be reached by telephone or telegraph, but Elberton responded and hurried to the rescue with all the ambulance and medical aid obtainable there."

They had walked in from the countryside that lay in the path of the storm, picking their way through trees and wreckage that barred the highway. They could not tell a coherent story of the damage they had seen, and it is not yet known how many are dead, or too badly hurt to drag themselves in, many of whom may still remain among the debris of their wrecked homes."

Search For Bodies.

Rescue parties from Comer are searching through the ruins of outlying negro shacks, totally demolished, aiding under their ruins no one yet knows how many injured or dead.

At one place the whole house was torn away, leaving only one small corner of a room, where a negro man, uninjured, still cowered under the blankets, too frightened to move.

In a nearby field a sorely bruised but lustily squalling negro baby was found, blown from the cabin into a sheltering ditch, where he lay while scudding wreckage passed inches above his head.

His mother, arising when the storm struck, was blown with the walls of her cabin into the same field. She was seriously injured.

The home of George Carithers was torn plank from plank and strewn for a hundred yards along the path of the storm, but the family, though bruised, escaped without serious injury.

Ball of Cotton Hurdled Afar.

A ball of cotton was picked up and hurled a quarter of a mile by the terrific violence of the wind.

By a strange freak of the twister, the home of the Rev. Mr. Stacey, superannuated Presbyterian minister, though directly in the path of the tornado, was undamaged. The Presbyterian church, next door, was demolished.

A huge oak tree, held so high in the affections of the people that it was allowed to remain in the middle of the highway, was uprooted and blown into a field.

Many Savannah Vets To Attend Convention

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 22.—(P)—The Francis S. Bartow camp, Sons of Confederate Veterans, will send a large delegation to the general reunion at Richmond in June to compliment Dr. W. R. Dancy, who, it is expected, will be elected commander-in-chief of the Sons of Veterans. He is the oldest of the three vice commanders in point of service. The present commander-in-chief, Dr. George R. Tabor, Oklahoma City, retires this year.

CLIFF M. HIGHTOWER IS SLAIN AT DUBLIN

DUBLIN, Ga., March 22.—(P)—Cliff M. Hightower, recently acquitted of a charge of murder in Emanuel county, was himself slain here early Tuesday. L. M. Hiner is being held by officers accused of the killing.

According to officers, Hightower was beating his wife and she appealed to her neighbor, Hiner, to aid her. In a clash between the two men Hightower was killed.

Hightower, George Clay and Homer Dixon were indicted in Emanuel county for slaying Ennis B. McBride, whose body was found in the ruins of a filling station near Summit, Ga., several months ago.

Clay was given life and is in the county jail at Swainsboro, Ga., awaiting the result of an appeal for new trial. After Hightower was acquitted the state nolle prossed the case against Dixon.

MISSISSIPPI SOLONS AMEND TAX MEASURE

House Resumes Campaign of Economy With Wide-spread Pay Cuts.

JACKSON, Miss., March 22.—(AP) After following the lead of the house in approving the administration-indebted 3 per cent rate for the retail sales tax bill by a simple majority vote, the senate spent the entire day in amending the measure, adjourning tonight without taking final action on the bill as a whole.

As packed galleries watched the upper chamber work on the bill, the house continued its campaign of salary-slashing, dashing through additional sections of the measure calling for drastic reductions in the pay of state employees. In some instances the house voted outright eliminations in departmental personnel as amendment after amendment from the floor put into the bill even more drastic cuts than had been recommended in the committee room.

The day saw appointment by Lieutenant Governor Dennis Murphree and Speaker Tom Bailey of the special joint legislative committee of 25 which will be charged with making a study of the state government to effect consolidation and elimination of departments in the interest of economy. The committee will report in a week on the advisability of calling legislative recess to allow their investigations to go forward.

A final vote on the sales tax bill in the senate appeared probable tomorrow. The 3 per cent rate was inserted in the bill today on a vote of 26-22, needing only a majority to fix the figure. When the bill is called up for final action it will need a three-fifths favorable vote to win passage.

Firemen Get 'Sweet Job' When Syrup Is Spilled

One of the strangest, yet sweetest, calls ever received by the Atlanta fire department was answered Monday afternoon when fire-fighters were requested to aid in the cleaning up of 52 gallons of Georgia sorghum which had been spilled on the street at Spring and Marietta.

A huge barrel of syrup, owned by the Atlanta Milling company, rolled off a company truck at the street intersection and traffic was tied up for nearly an hour while fire company No. 8, under Captain Grady Pierce, washed the pavement with fire hose. Only one accident marred the incident in the crossing the street Captain Pierce crossed and fell in the sticky Georgia molasses.

Ala. While they were repairing the puncture the tornado which wreaked havoc in five southern states struck Cartersville with full force.

Members of the city planning commission will consider a joint petition of Spellman College and the Leonard Street Negro Orphan's home for a Liberty street between Ella and Leonard streets. The meeting is slated for 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The Irving Trust company of New York, and Herbert E. Choate, of Atlanta, Tuesday were named ancillary receivers for the F. & W. Grand Stores, Inc., and Isaac Silver & Brothers company, Inc., by Judge E. Marvin Underwood, of federal district court. The receiverships were filed originally in the southern district of New York.
